Byrne's Helicopter Landings in Park Violate Ordinance, Township Charges

George W. Conover
Golf Supersedes a Heliport

Charges that Princetonians have had to scatter to avoid being hit by the helicopter that ferries Gov. Brendan Byrne to his appointed rounds have been levelled from two directions during the past week. And as a result of a request from Springdale Golf Club, near whose course the helicopter has landed for a number of years, it is now operating in and out of Battlefield Park. That, too, is not only a source of growing annoyance to many residents of whose homes are on or near Mercer Road but is in apparent violation of a Princeton Township ordinance which can impose a $500 fine and a jail sentence of 90 days.

It was well back in the last decade that the State obtained permission from Princeton University, which owns the land on which Springdale golf course operates, to provide Gov. Richard J. Hughes with a heliport at the foot of Springdale Road–easy access from Morven, the gubernatorial mansion. Gov. Hughes and his successor, Gov. William Cahill, flew in and out of the area for years, but not with any marked frequency Springdale golfers, whose concentration was occasionally disturbed by the whirring blades, generally felt it was a case of "live and let live." Gov. Cahill was a genial member of the club who sometimes found time for 18 holes in the midst of a busy schedule.

For reasons that lack specific delineation, the shuttle activity in which Gov. Byrne has been involved appeared to increase steadily. "Hughes and Cahill never seemed to fly in and out more than two or three times a week," one Springdale Golf Club employee remarked. "I've seen Byrne go in and out two or three times a day."

Irritation mounted one hot day last summer when Morven was the scene of a celebrity tennis tournament. "It's one thing for the Governor to land there himself," said a Springdale representative who asked that his name not be used, "but when they flew in Pat Boone and a bunch of tennis players, interrupting golf lessons that were being given on the practice range, some of us felt the courtesy of the landing area extended to them was being grossly over-used."

Springdale pro Jim Hultgren and his assistant, Pete Consoli, agree that there was a hazard to life and limb for those in the practice area when the 'copter was coming in for a landing. Consoli, a man with a green thumb as well as one skilled with a golf club, was growing a cucumber garden in the area. "The helicopter broke a bunch of my one-by-threes," he says indignantly. "I sent the Governor a bill for $32.40 and I expect to get paid."

Home Owners and Apartment Seekers Will Benefit From New Housing Law Contemplated by Borough

Young couple, no children; older couple, no children any more.

Princeton's housing stock has always been in short supply for these two ends of the scale. The Borough is now contemplating something called a "secondary residence" ordinance which will allow home-owners, particularly in the large-lot R-1 and R-2 districts, to tuck a small apartment into a convenient corner.

"Everyone on Council is sensitive to the fact that this may be the only way for some older people to maintain their homes and stay in Princeton," comments Council member Nelson van den Blink," and at the same time, we might help meet the existing housing demand."

Everyone on Council is also sensitive to the word "flats" which caused walls to tremble in Township, the idea is roughly the same, however.

The borough ordinance, as proposed, has the following provisions:

• To qualify, a home-owner must have a lot at least 50 percent larger than the minium in that particular residential zone. (The Borough Engineer's office can tell you what zone you are in and what its allowed minimum lot size is.)

• You must be able to provide 400 square feet of useable open space. This means a plot of ground at least 20 feet long—you can't have bits and pieces around the garage and add them all up.

• The owner must live on the premises, either in the main house or in the newly-constructed apartment.

• The new unit may have only two habitable rooms, plus kitchen facilities and bath.

The ordinance will be discussed by Council at this Thursday's work session (8 p.m., Borough Hall) and will probably be introduced November 9.

If the lot is big enough, the "secondary residence" might be an addition—nothing in the ordinance says it has to be inside the house. The ordinance is designed however, to apply to houses already in existence.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week that he, Council and the Planning Board expect that these new units could be built in about half the houses already existing in districts R-1 and R-2.

In the Borough's other two residential districts—R-3 and R-4—lots are usually too small to qualify, the mayor pointed out. But apartments are already allowed in these two zones if owners can obtain a conditional use permit from the Planning Board. Under the new ordinance, owners could build the apartments "as of right", if they meet the requirements.

Council wants to see how many home-owners will take advantage of the new ordinance. According to William H. Walker Jr., Planning Board member who sits on the

"We weren't worried about the cucumbers," George W. Conover, president of the club's board of governors, said, "but we did feel that a potential hazard existed with the increased use of the golfing area as a heliport. Suppose a sharply-hit ball crashed into the 'copter as it was coming down, causing it to lurch for some reason What if the whirling blades sucked up a stone on take off and it hit someone standing nearby It was our feeling that golf and a heliport don't mix, and the golf course has been there a long time."

No Special Privileges. The feeling precipitated a letter from Mr. Conover to the Governor, asking him to discontinue using the Springdale area for his flights. Princeton Airport, not as short a trip from Morven but considerably more suited to such purposes, is a logical solution, Mr. Conover feels. "I don't see any reason for the Governor to expect privileges that are not open to anyone else in the State," he said this week.

Gov. Byrne apparently disagrees. For the past month, State Police who fly the helicopter and drive the car that meets him report, the helicopter has been using Battlefield Park as a landing site. The apparent conclusion is that inasmuch as it is state-owned, (and even closer to Morven than the foot of Springdale Road), it's the logical place for the Governor to use.

Ordinance Violated? Unless there is some loop hole which would grant exception to the head of state using state-owned land, it does not seem possible for Battlefield Park to be used as a landing site without violating a Princeton Township ordinance. Not only did the municipality enact one several years ago but the Governor has been notified to that effect. So far, the Township has had no reply to its letter, which was dated October 12.

Township officials won't say how long the Governor may continue using Battlefield Park without action on their part, and they have followed Mr. Conover's lead in suggesting that the proper site for such activity is Princeton Airport. The only response that has come from Trenton is acknowledgment by State Police that use of the Park is "temporary" and that no permanent landing site will be built there. What alternative location may be selected is not being made public; Joseph Santangelo, a spokesman for the Governor, would merely say that "the matter is being reviewed."

A letter to TOWN TOPICS expressing the irritation of residents of the Mercer Road area over the flights appears on Page 21. It was drafted by Mrs. Kenneth M. Setton of 63 Maxwell Lane, who reported that all 18 Princetonians from whom she sought signatures were glad to be included. She said that their number included "five registered Democrats and two men who play tennis with the Governor on the court at Morven."

The matter first came to public notice in TOWN TOPICS' issue of October 11 when William Starr, chairman of the Battlefield Area Preservation Society, reported that the Society had heard rumors of Gov. Byrne's plans to have a helistop built there. In common with other written protests directed to Trenton, the letter dispatched by the organization has gone unanswered.

In a similar case a year and a half ago, J. Seward Johnson made application to the State for permission to construct a landing pad for a helicopter at "Jasna Polana," his multi-acre estate on the Princeton-Lawrenceville Road.

A date for a hearing in Township Hall was set, but before it could be held, verbal and written opposition became sufficiently intense that Mr. Johnson withdrew the application before the hearing date.

New Borough Law

Borough sub-committee of ZARC (Zoning Amendment Review Committee), it might even be necessary to decrease the size of the lot so that more home-owners could take advantage of the ordinance.

The measure is designed for people who have useable space within their houses already. Perhaps there is an unused bathroom and it's only necessary to block off a room or two and add a kitchenette.

One architect estimated that if such a situation did exist, a do-it-yourself home-owner could create a "secondary residence" for about $2,500. A kitchenette with four-foot long counter and stove-sink-refrigerator all packaged together, isn't costly, he pointed out.

If full-scale remodeling is undertaken however, he said the costs could range from $15,000 to $35,000

Illegal Units Exist. In the Borough, there are known to be many—nobody knows how many and nobody will speculate—illegal "apartments." Somebody puts an illegal hot-plate in a bedroom and rents it out to somebody else who heats up an illegal can of soup and uses the bathroom down the hall.

George Olexa, Borough engineer, doesn't feel the number of these illegal apartments is "monstrous."

"If I knew about a great many," he points out, "I'd be investigating because they are illegal."

Roomers, of course, are another matter. They are legal. For example, home-owners in R-1 and R-2, where the new ordinance is expected chiefly to apply, may have two rooms for rent, no more than two renters to a room, for a maximum of four. No cooking.

Borough law says that more than five unrelated people (not counting servants) living in the same house do not constitute a family and may not live, legally, in a single-family house. Five or fewer, as a single housekeeping unit with no locked doors, do constitute a family.

"We believe this potential space exists," Mr. Walker comments, "We want to see if people will take advantage of it."

PARADE ON HALLOWE'EN

And Maybe Win a Prize. Are you scary, beautiful, imaginative or perhaps all three? Whichever, you're invited to march in next Monday's Hallowe'en Parade and maybe win a prize.

In costume, paraders will gather at 6 p.m. in the parking lot next to the public library. The parade will proceed up Witherspoon to Nassau, down Chambers, across Chambers Walk and over to Palmer Square Green.

Here, Princeton's two mayors — Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Township Mayor Josie Hall — will be joined by School Superintendent Paul Houston and judging will begin.

Prizes will be given for the Most Imaginative costume, Most Beautiful costume and Scariest costume, with various age brackets taken into consideration.

Then, you'll put your name in the Goblin Box and rush home to sit by the telephone all evening waiting to find out if your name is called. If you are called — you'll win two tickets to the Playhouse Theatre.

The Lady Tiger from Princeton University, and Mei Mei Chow of Johnson Park School — a little tiger — will provide entertainment along the way.

BRIDGE? LOOKS DISTANT

Design Not Ready. It may be five weeks before designs and specifications for repair of the Stony Brook Bridge are complete, said Mercer County engineer Donald Harney this week.

Three contractors well-known in the county met last week with Wedlinger, the consultant, in the hope that construction could begin — and continue — as details were being worked out. Contractors said, however, that they could not give a maximum price when details were not complete, Mr. Harney said, and the county cannot enter into an open-ended contract.

Because the Freeholders declared an emergency in connection with the bridge, they do not necessarily have to go out to bid. They may ask a minimum of three contractors who have done bridge work for the county before, to submit bids. It is not yet known, Mr. Harney said, whether the county will advertise publicly for bids.

The engineer pointed out that repair on the bridge is contingent on fall and winter weather.

TO RENOVATE HOUSING

Public Units to be Updated. Half a million dollars worth of renovation is scheduled for Princeton's older public housing units under two Federal grants, one of which was formally announced this week. The other has received preliminary approval, with final approval expected.

AS $250,000 grant for extensive plumbing work and renovation of kitchens and bathrooms in the quarter-century-old Hageman Homes on Clay Street, was announced by the office of Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick. The grant is to the Princeton Housing Authority.

The other grant, for $257,400, has been applied for by the Borough under the Federal government's Community Development block grant arrangement. The so-called "pre-app." has been approved, according to Borough Administrator Robert F. Mooney. Housing Authority executive director Karin Slaby said she had learned that final approval is "pretty certain."

This money would be used to remodel the 20 units Franklin Avenue known as Maple Terrace and Franklin Terrace. These pre-war structures still have antiquated space-heaters which will be replaced by modern heating units. In many cases, two small bedrooms will be combined into a single larger bedroom, Mrs. Slaby said. The Authority expects to remodel the ten Franklin units first, assigning occupants to either the Hageman Homes or the new Redding Circle apartments while work is proceeding.

DETOURS IN EFFECT

In Two Areas. Motorists in the Princeton area are advised thast detours are in effect on two major arteries because of construction.

Excavation, repaving and installation of new curbing on U.S. Route 1 at Province Line Road in Lawrence Township will cause a detour for one week for motorists going to Port Mercer.

According to the state Department of Transportation, southbound motorists going to Port Mercer via Province Line should continue to the Motor Vehicle Inspection Station and return north into the interchange at Quakerbridge Road and then continue onto Province Line Road.

County Road 518 between Route 31 and Woodsville-Marshalls Corner Road in Hopewell Township will continue to be closed for "complete reconstruction" for another two weeks, according to the Mercer County Public Works Department.

University's Holdings in South Africa Target of Student Demonstration Friday

Students at Princeton University will demonstrate on Friday at noon outside Prospect House to demand that the University's Board of Trustees publicly defend its policy on South African investments. The students are calling on the Trustees tu participate in an open forum to be arranged for next month.

Last spring, the Trustees issued a policy statement rejecting student-faculty proposals for full or partial divestiture of South African-related investments. But student leader Sharon Kalemkiarian '79 stated that, "in spite of the extraordinary concern shown by the university community over this issue, the trustees have never publicly defended or debated their policy. In fact, they have repeatedly refused our invitations to an open discussion."

The students are also calling for a moratorium on the further purchase of stocks in corporations which invest in South Africa. During this past summer, Princeton University purchased $607,000 worth of stock in Manufacturers Hanover Trust, a bank which since 1972 has participated in loans to South Africa totalling $960 million.

Last spring, some 2000 students signed a petition calliog on the University to divest itself of all stock in corporations involved in South Africa. The Undergraduate Student Government voted 14-3 to demand divestiture, and more than 700 students demonstrated to support this demand. Two weeks later, Princeton's student movement received international attention when 210 students staged a 27-hour peaceful sit-in in Nassau Hall.

NEW PARKING RULES

On Two Streets. Parking regulations on Carnahan Place and Henry Avenue will change following passage last Wednesday by Township Committee of a new traffic ordinance.

Parking will be confined to two-hour limits on Carnahan and prohibited over night. On Henry, parking will be prohibited on the north side.

In other action, Committee agreed to tax remission of the John Witherspoon Wood property which has been given to the municipality by Mary Pardee. The action will cost the Township about $700 yearly in taxes. A request for tax remission on a portion of Brookstone property was deferred for additional information.

In work session, Committee also deferred consideration of a proposed litter ordinance. In closed session, Committee continued its discussion of acquisition of the Kleinberg property for Princeton Community Village, and of acquisition of Wightlands Corporation land adjoining the present Van Dyke Wight Open Space lands.

SAPOCH FOR BRADLEY

As A Co-ordinator. Betty Sapoch has been named Princeton co-ordinator for "Women's Day" for Democratic Senatorial candidate Bill Bradley. The "Day" is this Thursday. Its primary focus will be a League of Women Voters-Common Cause debate in Montclair.

"Bill Bradley, an early supporter of the ERA has pledged his efforts in the fight for equal job opportunities and equal pay for equal work," Mrs. Sapoch said.

The candidate himself declared that homemakers should be included under Social Security.

"If a woman chooses to devote her peak earning years to her home, husband and children she should not pay a financial penalty for that choice," he said, adding:

"The thousands of New Jersey women who have to work or choose to do so, must have equal access to credit, a guaranteed right to their share of retirement benefits, medical and disability coverage for pregnancy and maternity leave that does not threaten job security or seniority and available, reliable child care," he said.

That Extra Hour Is Back

Six p.m. will
Not be bright,
But six a.m.
Brings lots more
Light.

The major change in our daily living that occurs each fall is scheduled to take effect Sunday, officially at 2 a.m. The hour of sleep each of us has done without since the last weekend in April will be accordingly restored. Clocks go back one hour.

All that will affect the weather for the next few days thusly a milder trend is due Wednesday, with sunny skies that day possibly to be replaced by showers both Thursday and Friday. Saturday is expected to be clear and cool, and no rain is likely Sunday either, it says here.

Temperature readings will range from the high 30s at night to around 65 by day. The long-range forecast through November, incidentally, calls for somewhat colder weather than normal, with precipitation also above average.

CHARGED WITH RAPE

After Night in Apartment. Douglas M. Crandel, 32, has been charged with breaking and entering with intent to rape, assault and battery with intent to rape, and rape after he spent the night with a 29-year old Borough resident in her apartment in the center of town.

Police said that Crandel forced his way into the woman's apartment between 7 and 8 last Wednesday evening. His victim managed to get out of the apartment Thursday morning and came to police headquarters to report the attack.

Capt. Theodore Lewis and Sgt. Robert Anderson went to the address at 6:50 a.m. and arrested Crandel, who was still in the apartment. He is being held in Mercer County Jail in lieu of ten percent of $25,000 bail. He has no known present address but his last one, police ssaid, was Bank Street.

The victim was taken to Princeton Medical Center and examined and police notified the Mercer County Rape Task Force.

BOROUGH MAN CHARGED

With Forgery. As a result of a police investigation, George L. McGowan 3d, 32, 69 Clay street has been charged with two counts each of forgery, receiving money under false pretenses and possession of stolen property. Later released, he is scheduled to appear in court November 1.

Police said the charges stemmed from the cashing of a stolen check July 3 aad another August 28, both at a Princeton Bank and Trust drive-in window. The checks had allegedly been stolea, forged and cashed by McGowan.

George L. McGowan Jr., 54, of East Windsor was arrested last week on Witherspoon Street by Ptl. William Fitch and charged with shoplifting a portable air heater valued at $19.99 from Urken Supply Company, 27 Witherspoon Street.

He was released after being issued a complaint summons, pending his appearance November 15 in court.

Drug Offender. Speeding 45 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on Elm Road led to the arrest last week of David Dunham, 21, of Trenton.

Ptl. Randy Sutton, the radar officer who made the stop, allegedly observed marijuana in Dunham's car. He was later charged with possession of marijuana, possession of marijuana with intent to sell and possession of cocaine, and released in $500 bail.

Pot Smoker Charged. A Lawrenceville resident, Paul J. Chmielewski, 711 Pilgram Avenue, was apprehended by two Princeton University proctors Saturday for smoking marijuana at 3:10 in the morning in front of McCarter Theatre.

Police said he also had in his possession a container of unidentifiable liquid that has been sent to a police lab. Chmielewski was later released in his own recognizance.

PROWLERS ARE ACTIVE In Borough. "We've had a number of prowler reports," commented Capt. Theodore Lewis this week, as he discussed several on the police docket.

A Linden Lane resident called Monday evening at 6:30 to report that a man had just walked in her rear door while she was upstairs, took her wallet from her purse and exited out the front door. She lost $100 and blank checks.

Her 4-year old daughter described the intruder to police as as tall, thin black man with a white shirt. Patrol cars searched the area without success.

At 12:26 Monday morning, a Humbert Street resident reported a black prowler wearing a blue sweatsuit in the driveway. He was gone on the arrival of police.

There were two reports on Friday. A Vandeventer Avenue resident told police that he was resting in his bedroom around 3 in the afternoon when his door opened. When an arm in a black and green striped sweater began to reach around the door, he called out, "Who is it?"

The arm immediately disappeared, he said when he notified police two hours later.

Around 9 in the evening, a Linden Lane resident heard someone walking around his rear yard. He confronted a Negro male who was about 6-0, 6-2 tall.

"What are you doing?" he asked. The prowler replied that he was looking for his dog and left.

APPLIANCES DAMAGED In Kitchen Fire. An electric toaster, blender and can opener were damaged Thursday in a fire in the kitchen of the home of Barbara Bleeker, 77 Randall Road.

Police report when the faulty toaster ignited a cardboard box nearby, Mrs. Bleeker's son and daughter, who were home at the time, reacted quickly and extinguished the fire. There was also some damage to the counter top and a kitchen cabinet, police said.

No fire equipment was sent to the scene.

APARTMENT ENTERED Turquoise Jewelry Taken. Two silver turquoise rings and two turquoise bracelets were stolen from an unlocked, second-floor Prospect Avenue apartment entered Saturday between 2:20 and 6:30 p.m.

Also taken were two silver bands. Total value of the jewelry, police said, is $220.

A University Place resident told police that someone entered her unlocked home between Friday and last Wednesday and took her navy blue purse. Inside was a bank envelope containing $60, credit cards, billfold and change purse.

A navy blue pocketbook containing a gold bracelet watch valued at $200, a grey wallet with $40 inside and a $20 traveler's check was taken Thursday between 9 and 5 p.m. from a hall closet where it had been hidden.

The victim, a Bayard Lane resident, told police that workmen and a cleaning woman had been in the house during the day.

From the home of a Linden Lane resident, a thief last week stole a $40 digital clock radio from a living room desk and a brown leather pocketbook containing $30. The victim recovered the pocketbook later on her front lawn, minus the money.

In an entry earlier this month in an Edgerstoune apartment, Township police report that a stereo system, clock radio, assorted jewelry and wicker bird cage were stolen. They received no value on the missing items.

Entry was gained by way of a bathroom window overlooking the roof of a back porch. Ptl. John Clausen investigated.

PLEDGE COMPLETED

To Medical Center. The Auxiliary of the Medical Center at Princeton has completed its pledge of $500,000 to the capital expansion program for additions to the hospital's J-wing and other alterations.

Mrs. Thomas Huntington, president of the Auxiliary, presided at the annual meeting last Thursday in which checks totalling $103,500 were presented to John W. Kauffman, Medical Center president. Mrs. Huntington said the payment of the pledge was due to the support of Auxiliary activities by the entire community.

Committee chairmen reported on the activities which contributed to the total. Mrs. George Linton and Mrs. David Long, co-chairmen of the June fete, added a second check of $55,000 to the $50,000 given in June, bringing the total to a record gift of $105,000. The gross receipts for that one-day event, $170,000.

Mrs. Charles Dennison and Mrs. Philips Van Dusen, co-chairmen of the 1977 Christmas Boutique, reported a record gift of $30,000 to the Medical Center from last year's Boutique. Co-chairmen of the Rummage Sale, Mrs. Joseph F. Crowley and Mrs. Alfred Corsano, reported an estimated $10,500 from the sale held in early October at the Italian-American Sportsman's Club.

New Volunteer Director. The gift shop netted $8,000, in the past year, according to Mrs. Aubrey Huston, chairman. All of these funds were presented to the Medical Center.

In closing, Mrs. William L. Wilson, former director of volunteers, presented a farewell gift from the volunteers to Mrs. James Carey who recently resigned her position after serving as director for the past 10 years. It was announced that Miss Valerie A. Dalto has been appointed as the new director. Miss Dalto has served as director of volunteer services at Paul Kimball Hospital in Lakewood and at the John F. Kennedy Medical Center in Edison.

Children's Museum Recreates Flavor of a General Store of 1900

A hustling, turn-of-the-century general store has been set up in the Children's Museum room at Bainbridge House, and customers young and old are invited to stop by this Sunday between 2 and 4. The store will remain throughout the school year.

It's not just the opening of a "store"--it's the First Anniversary Birthday Party for the Children's Museum, and there will be a birthday sing-along with Carolyn Moseley, a Great Poetry Balloon Launch and, of course, a special birthday cake.

The Children's Museum was given a $500 award from the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission and founders Connie Escher and Anne Reeves decided to commission cabinet-maker Allen Smith of Pennington to build two Bauhaus-style exhibit cases for the Museum's only "hands-off" objects: antique books and fragile things like the collection of miniature toy shops.

The Museum has also been given a collection of antique toys and objects from the family of A. Perry Morgan, Constitution Hill. Museum visitors may look at a 1910 report card actually signed by Miss Fine--founder of the school that used to bear her name and has since been incorporated into Princeton Day School--19th-century school books including instructions on The Palmer Method of penmanship, and an old football uniform. The Morgan collection also has an old phonograph--a Victrola--boxed and starched collars and an early Brownie camera.

The "please touch" general store has barrels, boxes, brooms and lots of history. Period photographs, (see page one of this issue of TOWN TOPICS) will show young residents what life used to be like in the Central Business District.

Calico bonnets--you may try one on; green visors--try one of those on, too, --- and penny candy that actually costs a penny, for this Sunday, anyway. Visitors may learn the history of the Tootsie Roll, how it was named for the candy-maker's little daughter and how he had brought the recipe from Austria.

Contributors to the authenticity of the General Store are present day merchants Everett and Barbara Garretson, Albert Toto and Alan Fort.

Write your poem or your secret wishes and tie them to the big balloon to send them up to the sky--that's the Great Poetry Balloon Launch.

POOR LIGHTING BLAMED

For Campus Accident. Poor lighting around a grass median was blamed for an accident Saturday evening on Elm Drive, a private road on the university campus.

The driver, Carmen L. Rivera, 17, of Camden, was driving around a security booth when she struck the grass median behind it, causing damage to her car's undercarriage, front end and windshield. A passenger, 18-year old Josephine Rodriquez of Paterson, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for contusions and abrasions of the head.

In his report, Sgt. Michael Kopliner made note of the poor lighting around the median.

Car Hits Tree. Kazimiera Czarnecki, 63, of Cranbury, lost control of her car last week while she was exiting from the drive of Opinion Research Corporation off Terhune Road. Her car struck a tree 12 feet from the driveway.

Treated at the Medical Center for head lacerations, Ms. Czarnecki told Ptl. Peter Savalli that she wasn't sure what happened but she hadn't "blacked-out." Police said there was no evidence of any braking. There were no charges.

SPEEDERS ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Five Princeton area speeders were fined by Judge Philip Carchman Monday in Borough traffic court.

They are Leonard J. Pizzolato 3d, Willow Road, Belle Mead; Barry C. Engelman, Blawenburg; Robert A. Cooke, 144 Sycamore Road; John M. Leiggi, Windsor Castle, Cranbury, each of whom was fined $20, and Thomas C. Golden, 283 Nassau Street, fined $31. Robert V. Appleton, Route 31, Pennington, paid $30 for a stop sign infraction.

Four were fined in Township court last week, three for speeding.

Thomas Lindenfeld, 350 Mount Lucas Road, paid $35; Elizabeth Robinson, Rocky Hill-Blawenburg Road, Skillman, $31, and Glen G. Hansford Jr., Dutchtown Road, Belle Mead, $25. Mr. Hansford paid a second fine of $20 for driving without insurance.

Thomas E. Shepherd, 12 N. Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, was fined $35 as an unlicensed driver.

INSTITUTE NAMES TWO

For Administrative Posts. The Institute for Advanced Study has announced two appointments to its administrative staff.

Allen I. Rowe of Pennington, has joined the Institute as associate director for administration and finance, succeeding Minot C. Morgan Jr., who retired as the Institute's general manager this September.

Mary Wisnovsky, 179 Prospect, has been named assistant to the director, responsible for community affairs. The post is a new one for the Institute.

In announcing Mr. Rowe's appointment, Institute Director Harry Woolf paid tribute to "the long and outstanding service" of Mr. Morgan.

"Mike Morgan's contributions were inestimable," said Dr. Woolf, "we believe that in Allen Rowe we have a worthy successor to a man to whom the Institute will always be indebted."

For the past 12 years, Mr. Rowe was associate division head of the administrative division for the Princeton University Plasma Physics Laboratory. He has served on the Lawrence Township Board of Education and with the Head Start Program in Lawrenceville. He was also a member of the Racial Imbalance Committee.

A graduate of Susquehanna University, he is a licensed Certified Public Accountant and served as Comptroller of Dickinson College before joining the Princeton University staff in 1966.

Mrs. Wisnovsky is the daughter of Robert Strunsky and the late Louise Strunsky and is a life-long resident of Princeton. She is a graduate of Miss Fine's School and of Barnard College, where she majored in art history.

For four years, she was on the staff of the Princeton University Art Museum where she handled the public aspects of the museum's operation. She was on the McCarter Theatre staff for two years and was instrumental in McCarter Associates. Earlier, she administered a graduate fellowship program for the John Hay Whitney Foundation. She is married to Joseph Wisnovsky, a writer and editor for Scientific American.

In her new position, Mrs. Wisnovsky will have general responsibility for developing community-related activities at the Institute. During the next two years, she will have special responsibility for implementing various programs in connection with the Institute's National Einstein Centennial Celebration.

PARKED CARS TARGET

of Vandals. Three parked cars were visited by vandals last week in Princeton.

Aaron Waitz of Philadelphia told Township police the windshield of his car was broken while it was parked early last week in the lot west of the ROTC Armory off Washington Road. Damage was estimated at $47.20.

The car of a Nassau Street resident had its right rear tire flattened and side view mirror torn off last week in the Park Place lot, and a Palmer Square resident told police Saturday what happened to her car while it was in the lot on the corner of Hulfish and Chambers.

The windshield wiper was bent, the side mirror broken, air let out of right rear tire, the rear license plate bent and gas line tubing removed. She told police that a week earlier when she had her sister's car, the CB antenna had been broken off while it was in the same lot.

Unitarian Church Visited. Two 5-by-7 foot windows in the rear of the Unitarian Church on Cherry Hill Road were broken last week.

In addition, police report that two double doors on the southwest corner of the lower building had been pried open and the kitchen area ransacked. Nothing appears to have been taken, they said.

Guilty Gourmet

No doubt 38-year old Robert Sarnia, whose last address was Detroit, had just dropped in for something to eat.

When Princeton University Proctors discovered him trespassing in Witherspoon Hall around 9 Saturday morning, Sarnia was busy cooking in a student's room. Police charged him with larceny of a frying pan, three eggs, yogurt, butter and mushrooms — and trespassing.

Two Princetonians, Founders of Junior Museum, Will Present 'Woman,' a Portfolio of 16 Prints at State Museum on Nov. 4

WE ARE QUEENSTON PRESS: Artist Judith Brodsky (left) and her partner Zelde Leschever will be remembered by Princeton collectors for their pair of Bicentennial print portfolios. Now they have formed Queenston Press, and their first portfolio under the Queenston logotype is "Women," whose 16 prints will be exhibited at the New Jersey State Museum November 4-24. (Arthur Dreeben photo)

It all started before the American Revolution. Judith Brodsky and Zelda Laschever had worked together on exhibits in the Princeton Junior Museum, climbing the ancient, creaking stairs to the attic of the old Borough Hall where Zelda and her co-founder Mildred Goldberger, had set up the Museum in 1963.

The '60s and '70s moved along. Judy became increasingly established as artist and print-maker. She is now associate professor and head of the art department at Newark College of Arts and Sciences, Rutgers University. Zelda was known throughout the community for her imaginative "hands-on" exhibits in the Princeton schools.

As the Bicentennial approached, Zelda, with Judy and other graphic artists around Princeton began to plan a pair of print portfolios celebrating the role played by New Jersey and Princeton in the historic events of 1776.

The result was a pair of portfolios of 15 prints each: The Princeton Bicentennial Portfolio and "The Ten Crucial Days" New Jersey Bicentennial Portfolio. Both portfolios sold out and were purchased for the permanent collections of major museums. Zelda's work as coordinator won for her the "Woman of the Year" Bicentennial Citation from Soroptimist International.

Logical Extension. Since the two portfolios were so successful, Judy and Zelda reasoned, why stop?

So they went into legal partnership, founded Queenston Press and 18 months ago began to plan Queenston's first portfolio.

It is called "Woman" and it will go on view Saturday, November 4 in the main gallery of the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton.

"Woman" is a portfolio of 16 prints by 16 artists in an edition of 50--a small edition, as portfolios go. Etchings, lithographs, engravings, silk-screen, embossed works--the media are varied and the artists' conceptions equally varied but always deeply personal and philosophical.

Judith Brodsky herself is represented by "Dishrag Diagrammatic" in which the artist treats an amusing subject with brilliant color and a texture so skillfully executed that the very folds of the "rag" seem to emerge in a third dimension.

"ON THE SAND": Clare Romano's collagraph is one of the prints by New Jersey women artists in the new Queenston Press portfolio, "Woman."

Collaborators. The other artists--all from New Jersey, although this will not be a consistent pattern with Queenston Press--are Dorothea Greenbaum, Clare Romano, Mayumi Oda, Ofelia Garcia, Linda White, Marie Sturken, Jane Teller, Joan Needham, Naomi Savage, Trudy Glucksberg, Ann Gross, Lonni Sue Johnson, Margaret Kennard Johnson, Helen Schwartz and Yvonne Burk.

Zelda Laschever is not an artist. She is a microbiologist by training and, currently, a real estate sales person.

"Judy gave me the technical know-how I needed when we did the Bicentennial portfolios," Zelda says "and I took a course in printmaking, working on a single theme in woodblock, linoleum, etched plate, engraved plate and silk-screen, to know print technique at first-hand."

She emphasizes that all prints in "Woman" have been handpulled, either by the artist herself or under the artist's supervision.

"Print-making," she explains, "is a combination of the creative, and perfect technical skill. One print in the portfolio, for example, has five plates! There must be no slips in the register, no fingerprints, each print immaculate--the mortality rate is high. And in this portfolio, there are no 'seconds;' you can't buy a cheaper print with a fingerprint!"

Wide Age Span. Artists represented range in age from Dorothea Greenbaum to Lonni Sue Johnson, who are separated by almost three generations. The approach to the subject of "Woman" ranges from the delightful humor of a colorful patchwork

TIMELESS QUALITY

In Ricchard's Shoes. Ricchard's has the warmth and charm of a country living room that welcomes customers and makes a perfect setting for the classic men's and women's shoes, boots, clogs, sandals and women's handbags. Excellent quality is offered in every price range and the finest service extended. A gracious sales staff stands ready to offer complete information about any selection and to provide expert fitting.

SHOE SCENE: Ricchard's has an atmosphere of country elegance, that makes a perfect setting for Dick Lanahan, owner, and his fine collection of traditionally styled shoes for men and women. Pictured in front of a colonial hutch, Mr. Lanahen displays a handsome dress shoe for men, made by Bally of Switzerland.

A Variety of Women's Styles. Ricchard's shoes for women are the traditional classics in rugged walking styles for the country, low - heeled casuals for city or town and elegant, dressy styles for daytime into evening. Most are in the middle heel range and all are offered in a variety of brown tones, bordeaux or black.

Dressy open styles by Bally and Martini Osvaldo and a closed T strap by Joan and David, are the perfect complement for today's fashions. Joan and David's pumps with two eyelet ties, wing tips or kiltie trim, and Bally's unadorned classic pump contribute dignity and beauty for a well-dressed look.

Low heeled dress casuals with their classic, aristocratic styles in loafers, eyelet ties and moccasin toe designs are made by Capczio, Joan and David and Old Maine Trotters, with a variety of metal and leather trims and a choice of crepe or leather soles. Country look sports casuals — moccasins, slip-ons and laced shocs, with cushioned crepe or vibram soles, sturdy and comfortable for hiking and walking, are made by Rockport, Brevitt Bouncers and American.

Comfortablé, distinctlvely styled clogs have become a way of life for many women, whose daughters are following in their footsteps by wearing clogs, too. Ricchard's offers them in a wide range of styles and colors and also in children's sizes. Olaf's Daughters from Finland makes a low bottomed clog, Mia of Sweden shows a dressier clog with higher bottom that flatters the leg, and Frye's clog adds a padded stocking liner for increased comfort.

Boots and Bags. Frye's beautiful leather boots, made of top grained cowhide with leather linings are bench-crafted to give them the fine quality that will take them through all kinds of weather and endure for six or seven years. The Frye boots are approximately $90; others are $68-$175. Joan and David's couture line of boots with leather linings are made from the most perfect cowhide, designed without seams, and shown in rich shades of cognac and antique brown.

Boots by Morland of England, in a knee length style, are the most durable (10 years), warmest of all the boots and completely waterproof. They are made of black, brown or mole sheepskin with a sueded finish on the outside and the fleece side turned in, and come with crepe or hard rubber soles. Other wool fleece lined boots are made of calf-skin by Brevitts — warm and dressy styles in ankle and knee lengths with flat heels.

Classic handbags by Coach, handcrafted in top grain cowhide, are shown as over the shoulder pouches with envelope flaps, rectangular shapes that convert to clutch bags, or double handled handbags in a satchel style. They adapt to many types of fashion and are available in small to very large sizes in saddle, brown, black, navy and burgundy.

... And for Men. Ricchard's shows traditional dress styles both domestic and imported, beautifully crafted from the finest calf-skins and kidskins, with leather, cushiony crepe or lightweight rubber soles, in many shades of brown, or black. Bally of Switzerland's dress shoes are the top of the European line; the domestic collection includes shoes by Alden, Allen Edmonds, Wright Arch Preserver, Nettleton and Ricchard's own private stock. The styles for both are basically slip-ons, in a variety of styles and trims, laced shoes with wing tips, plain or moccasin toes and domestic ankle boots in smooth or textured leathers.

Ricchard's wide selection of men's casuals in a price range from $23-$50 are very much in demand. Loafers, tie shoes and a dozen styles of moccasins, in all shades of brown, are offered in calfskins, cowhides and wax hides, primarily with crepe or cushioned soles, by many manufacturers. Walkover makes white and dirty bucks and two sport saddle shoes; men's clogs and espadrilles are also displayed. Hand-sewn loafers by Cole-Haan and American are available in penny, tasseled and kiltie styles from $39-$69.

Frye's handsome boots for men are cowhide with leather linings in rugged ankle styles, chukkas, jodhphurs and plain knee boots in mid-brown, saddle and rust. Morland of England makes warm, durable boots from sheepskin, that are completely waterproof and will last for ten years. They are shown in brown sheepskin with a sueded finish, or in calfskin, with sheepskin fleece linings, in two eyelet chukka, ankle length and mid-calf styles. Morland also makes classic indoor slippers for men and women in tan or dark brown with white sheepskin fleece linings.

Ricchard's is located at 148-150 Nassau. Dick Lanahan is owner, Kevin Lanahan, manager, and the salespeople are Nancy Russell, Ulla

FRESH WINTER BEAUTY

Yours from Dorothea. Tucked away in a corner of Princeton is a pretty pink shop, delectable as a bon bon and feminine as a powder puff. The shop's name is "Dorothea" and it is filled with all the fascinating paraphernalia of beauty — lotions, creams, perfumes, lipsticks, eye shadow, nail polishes. And there on the shelves are the special formulas just right for you — to enhance your winter beauty — keep you fresh and lovely as a snowflake.

The person who knows your special beauty needs is Dorothea Fretz, a gracious brunette, who will never forget your name, and will greet you warmly each time you enter her shop. Dorothea can give you the utmost in personal service, as she has a vast knowledge of the skin and skin care products, acquired from long experience as a cosmetics buyer. She can analyze your skin, at no charge, and recommend a beauty routine and make-up colors that are very personally yours.

Since winter, with its holidays, is just ahead, Dorothea suggests you begin special beauty care right now, using the fine Germaine Monteil products exclusive with her in Princeton. Formulated to replace moisture and oil in the skin, they are restorative for three types of dryness. Normal to dry skin will benefit from the Super-Moist collection, very dry skin needs the Suppiegen collection, ultra dry skin yearns for the Acti-Vita collection.

Daytime Skin Care. Here are the daily steps to winter beauty Dorothea prescribes for everyone, varying only in the use of specific products for their skin requirements. Cleanse your face each morning with cream or lotion, followed by a freshener, which removes all traces of the cleanser and contracts the pores without drying the skin.

The next step is the use of a moisturizer, and Dorothea can't emphasize this enough, as it is very important, especially in winter, to replace moisture lost from the skin due to low humidity in homes and drying winter winds. Moisturizers are greaseless, totally absorbed by your skin, to keep it soft, comfortable and fresh all day.

Germaine Monteil has moisturizers in both natural and corrective color tints. Super-Moist green tones down a skin that is too rosy, Super-Moist Lavender brightens sallow skin, Cream Blush bronze suggests a sun tan and Cream Blush pink adds a glow to pale faces. And now that you're ready for make-up, choose a tinted liquid or cream foundation, add blusher, powder, if desired, eye shadow and mascara.

Night time Skin Care. To grow more beautiful as you sleep, remove all make-up with cleansing cream or lotion and follow with a light application of night cream for oil replacement. Use a specially formulated eye cream for the delicate skin around your eyes, and if needed, a throat cream that will lubricate and tighten the neck and throat area, while you rest. After a bath or shower, smooth on Germaine Monteil's Super-Moist Arm and Leg Lotion and feel luxuriously refreshed.

Denney has three winter care products, highly recommended by Dorothea — a rich honey-butter hand cream that soothes and softens hands, knees and elbows, a protective lip moisturizer with a sun screen and "Anti-Perspirant Plus" that is extra gentle, but has special ingredients to keep you dry under warm winter clothing.

Two Jacqueline Cochran products for dry skin are on sale now — Hydrophilic Lotion replaces moisture in the skin by day, Super-Rich Night Cream restores oil balance at night. Each are $11.50 values of Germaine Monteil products on sale for $6.50.

DuBarry fans will be delighted to know that Dorothea carries skin care products in the Moisture Petals and Paradox collections, including cleansers, fresheners, moisturizers, night creams, tinted foundation base and blushers.

Kits by Germaine Monteil. A handsome new weekend tote has just arrived at Dorothea's with a stackpack of four skin care products by Germaine Monteil. The spacious tote is made of heavy beige canvas with a brown trim, has a double handle that can go over the shoulder or be hand held, and a zippered closing. It is a $40 value offered for $12.50 when you make a $5 purchase from the Germaine Monteil collection.

"Le Kit" is an elegant tortoise shell box holding moisturizer, cleanser, under-eye cover cream, lipstick, blush, four eye shadows and "Royal Secret" cologne. It is a $35 value offered for $7.50 when you make a $5 purchase

Fragrances. Capucci has an "exhilarating" new scent described as "the invisible accessory — because you are a woman!" It is an intriguing mix of flowers and exotic spices and could become your signature. Toilet water and perfume from $8.00.

Carven's "Ma Griffe" is a woodsy, refreshing, dry floral, cleverly packaged to make two gifts. Two matching bottles of eau de toilette with a non-aerosol spray are boxed separately then wrapped together and sold as a unit — a $14 value for $8.00. Nina Ricci's once a year promotion offers special sizes of "L'Air du Temps," "Capricci," or "Farouche" in eau de toilette with a non aerosol spray, $6.75 each.

Dorothea is located at 195 Nassau Street, in Thompson Court. Her shop number is 20 and there is off street parking. Shop hours are 10-6 Monday through Saturday; closed on Tuesday.

Colors of Fall Season Are Reflected At Belle Mead's Scrumpy Cider Mill

A visit to Scrumpy Cider Mill in Belle Mead is an enjoyable outing with delightful shopping. Mounds of bright orange pumpkins, barrels of fall squash and cheese pumpkins, bins of cooking apples and hardy chrysanthemums in fall hues create a panorama of fall outside the old brick building. Inside the cider mill, indian corn, gourds and Big Mac pumpkins create colorful still lifes with several varieties of fall apples. Icy fresh apple cider, hot mulled apple cider and freshly-made doughnuts are ready and waiting for you.

Quaint Victorian illustrations from "Harper's Magazine" and prints from original paintings, hanging on the wall, tell the story of cider making 100 years ago. Several large glass windows let you look in on cider making as it is done today.

You'll see apples in bulk fork-lifted into huge tanks of water, where they are soaked to eliminate leaves and mud, then conveyed into a washer with brushes and spray nozzles. After their bath, they are hand inspected to eliminate undesirables, then mechanically ground to applesauce consistency. The ground apples are folded into cloth on slatted wooden trays and stacked 15 layers high in a press, which squeezes out the juice with 100,000 lbs. force.

The juice is filtered to eliminate any solids and piped into holding tanks, where it is chilled until bottling, usually the same day. Several varieties of apples are used to achieve a delicious blend with no sugar or preservatives added. You can take some home in plastic jugs for $2 a gallon; $1.15 a half gallon.

The crop of favorite fall apples is in now and includes Cortlands, Red and Golden Delicious, Winesaps, Rhode Island Greenings, Jonathons, Macoun, McIntosh, all 29 cents a pound or $5.75 a half bushel. Attractive signs describe the characteristics of each variety and tell which are best for eating, pies, salads, sauce. Jarlsberg and Vermont Cheddar cheeses are sold to eat with fresh apples or serve with freshly baked apple pie.

Dried fruits without preservatives or sugar - turkish apricots, papayas, honey-dipped pineapple mangoes, currants dehydrated apple rings - several kinds of shelled nuts, and fruit and nut mixes are natural, healthful snacks. Tulip poplar, clover and wildflower honey from south Jersey and orange blossom honey from Florida are also stocked. Mulled cider mix, licorice and spiced mate teas make appealing beverages.

Hallowe'en goodies at Scrumpy Cider Mill include pumpkins priced according to size, un-popped popcorn in half gallon plastic jugs, 3½ lbs. for $2.00, freshly made doughnuts 15 cents each or $1.75 a dozen, and of course, apples.

Scrumpy Cider Mill is owned by Jerry Sundheimer and open seven days a week, 9-6 Monday through Saturday, 10-5 Sunday. Cider is made on an unscheduled basis during the week, but you can watch it being made on Saturday and Sunday, until April.

Princeton Regional School HIGHLIGHTS

(The following information was researched and written by members of the Regional Schools PTO Council, and the opinions expressed are not those of TOWN TOPICS.)

THE LIBRARY AT JOHN Witherspoon School has a group of student aides to help with all phases of work there from processing incoming books and periodicals through check-out and eventual reshelving. Twenty students — and their numbers are growing — are being taught the necessary skills under the capable direction of librarian Eudora Wright. Parents too are helping to fill any gaps in the work schedule; if you're interested in libraries, books, and children, you may want to sign up to volunteer by calling Ms. Wright (924-5600) or by visiting the school in person.

THE PERSONNEL OFFICE is still recruiting people who would like to substitute as playground aides, classroom aides, or in school offices. Those interested may fill out an application at the Valley Road office; these positions carry hourly pay provisions.

TEN WEEKS IN EUROPE were lively, rewarding, and unforgettable according to PHS teacher Janice Carey. As a recipient of a scholarship from the Societe des Professeurs Francais en Amerique, she spent a month in Annecy as a student: conversation, lectures, field trips. Following this, there were trips into Germany and Spain (where one can soak up sonshine and Spanish at the same time) before a final fling in Paris and on to PHS classes in September.

JOHN WITHERSPOON SIXTH GRADERS will he "Artists in Residence" in the downtown business area as the annual Hallowe'en window painting gets underway. Although Eric Mihan of the Merchant's Association supplied the windows — in lieo of canvases — it was Marv Leavitt of JW who co-ordinated the artists. Pot a tour of the area on your weekend schedule, and see what ideas the holiday has evoked.

COMMUNITY PARK'S K-1-2 Class, taught by Faye Honsinger and Sally Rowland, held their annual Pot-Luck Supper for parents last Wednesday evening at the school. Principal Gene Biringer was there as was the new classroom aide, Mrs. Penny Murray, and a host of parents, among whom are some five-year veterans whose second child is a part of the class roll. In addition to friendship and food, the evening served as a second back-to-school night with a presentation of goals, objectives, and programs by the teachers:

MEMBERS OF THE PRS ART Department were on hand at the Art Educators of New Jersey meeting in Cherry Hill this past week. Dave Mackey of Littlebrook and Rosemary Blair of PHS both serve on the group's Executive Board. Mrs. Blair chaired a panel on "Art Concerns" — a look at grantsmanship, the National Endowment for the Arts, HEW programs, and other sources of money for school arts programs. Mrs. Blair is also on the editorial committee for the New Jersey High School Guide in the Arts and serves as senior editor for this work entitled "Art Education in the Secondary School."

THIRD GRADERS IN MRS. GERALDINE PENROSE'S Community Park class have been studying early Princeton from several aspects. Since seeing is a major part of learning, the group took a long and wide-ranging tour to learn about many things first-hand. The first stop was to view two old sycamores on Nassau Street and the famed catalpa on Van Deventer. A tour of the Quaker Meeting House and Borial Groond was followed by a trip to the Battlefield, the Mercer oak, and the Clark farmhouse. The Monument and the remains of a tree planted by Richard Stockton preceded a jaunt to Marquand Park where a picnic lunch shared top billing with the many trees and flowers of the area. A final ride to Johnson Park concluded the busy day.

THE PHS STUDENT COUNCIL worked hard to make the CROP walk a huge success, but their agenda includes a number of in-school projects, too. Such things as additional bike racks, a more attractive student lounge, and a Council-inspired clean up crew for the PHS halls are in the offing, while the use of a student announcer for intercom bulletins has already been started.

RIVERSIDE SCHOOL'S K-1 classes with Mrs. Rounds and Mrs. Chace are "Walking Through October" with weekly jaunts to see Autumn colors and visit places of interest. On Hallowe'en their trip will be to the Princeton Nursing Home where the children can model their costumes for the elderly residents.

The classes' study of fire — stressing both safety and the value of fire — was made part of a science program with the help of Mr. Schneiderman. A final project was the building a camp fire coupled with a marshmallow and hot dog roast.

FOURTH GRADERS IN MRS. KORMAN'S Riverside class visited the National Wildlife Refuge at the Great Swamp in Basking Ridge. To see the interdependence of wildlife and environment, the group walked through the swamp's boardwalk to the duck blinds and watched Canadian geese, mallards, and other birds. Study of cattails, seedpods, and nuts was also a result of this trip.

TO NAME CONSULTANT

On Palmer Square's Future. Borough Council and Planning Board representatives expect to announce next week the name of the planning consultant who will comment on the Palmer Square package that includes expansion of the Square and the public library, parking garages and housing for the elderly, Mayor Robert W. Cawley told reporters this week.

Meanwhile, retiring Palmer Square, Inc. president Thomas Root denied rumors that still another Palmer Square store had been told to move. Luttmann's Luggage Ltd. owned by Bruce Crandall, and Sameric's Playhouse Theatre have already been warned that they must vacate their premises by March.

Luttmann's and the Playhouse are the remaining tenants in the free-standing building on the north side of Hulfish. Palmer Square's expansion plans call for that building to be razed. The third retail space in the structure, formerly occupied by Kalen's Fine Arts Branch, has been vacant for some time.

Rumors have been circulating around Palmer Square that a third unidentified tenant had been asked to leave, but Mr. Root said no.

At present Palmer Square's expansion plans await a decision by Borough Council about the future of the entire area. The planning consultant and the public will be invited to comment on the whole package. Palmer Square has already made an informal presentation to the Planning Board.

CLOSING CONSIDERED

By Bambergers. The lease for Bamberger's in Princeton Shopping Center expires in January 1980, and discussions are under way whether or not to renew it.

Bud Pomeranz, the company's public relations director, has said that it is "normal to reconsider whether to keep the store open simply because the lease is almost up." He added, "But it would be erroneous to say we have decided to close. We haven't. Right now the store is making money."

Mr. Pomeranz said that no decision has been made or will be "for the next few months." Rumors that this Bamberger's would close have been circulating ever since a larger Bambergers was built in the Quaker Bridge Mall.

There are 50,000 square feet in the two - story building where 200 people are employed and it is the anchor store among the 53 shops in the shopping center. Sarah Snyder, representative for Harold Goldberg & Company of Irvington which manages the center, has said that the Bamberger space could be rented easily but declined to give the names of companies which had inquired about the space.

SLATE PROPOSED

For Chamber Board. The nominating committee of the Chamber of Commerce has proposed a slate of candidates to be considered for election to the board of directors to serve a three - year term beginning January 1, 1979.

Those nominated include James S. Bowers, business administration instructor at Centenary College in Hackettstown; Harry Heilig, general manager, Research and Development, Western Electric; A. C. Reeves Hicks, attorney; Ralph Hulit Jr., head buyer, Hulit's Shoes; John R. Lasley, senior vice president, Opinion Research Corp.; and Leslie L. Vivian, director, Community and Regional Affairs, Princeton University.

In addition, Herbert M. Chubin, president of Travelsavers, Inc., and Sue Rock, assistant director, Princeton Public Library, have been nominated as alternates. According to the by-laws, nominations can also be made by petition.

HEAT ON SATURDAYS?

New Ordinance Under Study. A possible ordinance requiring commercial landlords to provide heat is now under study by the Borough municipal attorney, local health officials said this week.

Under present laws, health inspectors may act only if residential landlords do not provide heat. Retail tenants of the 20 Nassau building have protested to the Princeton Board of Health that new leases do not provide for heat for their stores on Saturdays. Their protests led the Board of Health to ask Borough Council for an ordinance rectifying the situation.

'Yes' To Consolidation Study.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

It is my belief that the Borough and Township will gain in all respects by establishing a joint municipal consolidation study commission. The formation of such a body will provide the means of carefully evaluating the cost effectiveness in operation, whether or not the commission recommends consolidation. The results of this study and evaluation will be beneficial to all concerned because of the current financial stringencies.

We are fortunate indeed to have individuals in our respective municipalities who are willing to serve on this commission because of their interest and dedication toward promoting the welfare of the entire Princeton community.

I encourage every citizen to vote in favor of the establishment of this joint study commission.

PAUL CHESEBRO

Byrne Violates a Public Trust.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

We have been disturbed every day in recent weeks by the number of noisy helicopter flights in our neighborhood. We are even more disturbed by the fact that the helicopters land on Princeton Battlefield Park. It has not been difficult to ascertain that the helicopters belong to the New Jersey State Police, and that they are indeed transporting the Governor. They often land and take off several times a day, including at least one landing this past Saturday and another on Sunday.

It is not the purpose of the Battlefield Park to provide a landing place for helicopters. When the Governor uses it as his helistop he violates a public trust. We expect all incumbents of his office to preserve, not exploit, such a public trust.

Although we consider it a gross impropriety to use the Princeton Battlefield Park as a helistop, we are also concerned by the inconvenience it causes the many people who like to walk in the Park and who must scatter to make way for the approach of the landing or departing helicopter. We assume the situation is also potentially hazardous. Needless to add, the landing and take-off of the low-flying helicopters are a noisy nuisasnce to the occupants of all the houses around and near Battlefield Park.

We write this letter because we understand that a direct remonstrance to the Governor has done no good.
Editor's Note: The letter bore the signatures of:

Kenneth M. and Margaret Setton, 63 Maxwell Lane; Nancy N. Lea, 544 Mercer Street; Margaret Meiss, 43 Maxwell Lane; Ashley Ammidon, 425 Mercer Street; Dorothea W. Lummis, 433 Mercer Street; Atle and Hedwig Selberg, 7 Maxwell Lane; Andre and Eveline Weil, 42 Veblen Circle; Dorothy Morgenstern, 19 Haslet Avenue; Natalie M. and Dana Carroll, 533 Mercer Street; Anne and David K. Reeves, 28 Olden Lane; LaVerne and Thomas George, 20 Greenhouse Drive; Ruth M. and Harold F. Cherniss, 98 Battle Road.

Negative Vote Planned.
To The Editor of Town Topics:

In all the hubbub over consolidation there is one statement I haven't seen in print which I think needs to be set forth clearly: a vote against the Consolidation Study Commission is a vote against consolidation, and will put the quietus on it for awhile at least. Since this issue was studied just two years ago, why does it need to be studied again so soon? I think it's a waste of time and money and I'm going to vote 'No.'

Also, there's a nagging suspicion in the back of my head that someone's trying to sell me a bill of goods. The idea being widely promoted is that a 'yes' vote is a neutral vote, but I know that one woman who asked me to sign her petition is pro-consolidation already, she admitted as much to me.

I also know that a questionnaire regarding consolidation which was circulated recently gave only half as much space for listing negative comments as for positive. I could cite other examples, but let these suffice for now. We're obviously not being leveled with, and I for one don't appreciate it.

To the Editor:

Since Dorothea Greenbaum, distinguished sculptor and distinguished member of the Princeton community, and her friend (myself), a long-time resident of Princeton, were unable to procure a taxi last Saturday evening, is it not reasonable that the helicopter be placed at their disposal?

In Princeton

GUEST PREACHERS DUE

At Nassau Street Churches. Andrew L. Gunn, executive director of Americans United for Separation of Church and State, will preach at the morning worship service at the United Methodist Church, Nassau and Vandeventer Streets, Sunday at 11. His sermon will be "God's Will is Religious Liberty."

Mr. Gunn has been actively involved with religious liberty concerns since his ordination to the United Methodist ministry in 1955 by Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, one of the founders of Americans United. A graduate of Oberlin College and Yale University Divinity School, he served pastorates in Maryland until 1976.

The Rev. Dr. Andrew J. Weir, Clerk of Assembly and General Secretary of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland, will preach Sunday at 10 at Nassau Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Weir was born in Chinn, son of missionary parents, and educated in China and in Belfast, Ireland. He spent six years in West China as a missionary and later served a congregation in County Donegal, Ireland.

He was first appointed Clerk of Assembly and General Secretary in 1964 and was elected Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland in 1976. Following a year in this office, he has reverted to his earlier position as Clerk of Assembly and General Secretary. He has taken an active part in world-wide Presbyterianism and is a former member of the European Area Committee of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches.

MUSIC, DANCING SET

At Unitarian Church. Mid-Eastern jazz and folk music by Taksim will be featured at a nightclub evening at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill and State roads, on Saturday, November 4, from 9 to 12. The evening is for the benefit of the church's music program and will include dancing and refreshments.

Taksim performs original composition and improvisations on Armenian, Turkish, and Arabic songs and is led by Sudan Baronian, who plays the G clarinet and saxophone. The vocalist and dancer is Shamira Azad. The group features Haig Manoukian on the oud, Chuck Yegian on the dumbek, Steve Knight, bass player and Terry Silverlight, drummer.

Donations are $8.50 ($7.50 for senior citizens and students). Tickets are at Hinkson's. For information, call 924-6633 or 921-6612 afternoons.

DIALOGUE PLANNED

On Lutheran and Reformed Church. The Right Rev. Josiah M. Kibira, president of the Lutheran World Federation and Bishop of the Northwest Diocese of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Tanzania, will speak at Princeton Theological Seminary on Thursday at 7:30. The meeting, co-sponsored by the Seminary and the New Jersey Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, will be held in the Campus Center and will be open to the public.

Bishop Kibira, an African, will speak on "The State of the Church Today." Responding will be Dr. James I. McCord, President of Princeton Seminary and President of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches (Presbyterian and Congregational). The Lutheran and Reformed Churches were the two major communions or families of faith which derived from the Reformation. This is an opportunity to hear the chief officers of these communions in dialogue.

DANCE WORKSHOPS DUE

At Nassau Church. Two sacred dance workshops, both open to the public and one of them to include young children, will be conducted at the Nassau Presbyterian Church by Amy Yopp, founder-director of "Ministry Through the Arts," based in Andover, Mass. The sessions are being sponsored by the arts subcommittee of the church and will meet in the assembly room.

The first workshop will meet Saturday, November 4, from 9 to 3 and is called "Applying Scriptural Principles in Dance." It is for dancers and others with special interest in use of the art form in worship. For this session only, there is a registration fee of $3, payable at the door. A sack lunch is suggested, but beverages will be supplied.

The second, on Sunday, November 5, at 3:30 is for dancers and non-dancers of all ages, who will participate by watching, listening and joining in the dance, including ancient Hebrew dances. An informal worship service will conclude this session. A sack supper is requested, along with a dessert to be shared.

Ms. Yopp is a specialist in the introduction of dance in local churches with lecture-demonstrations, workshops and classes. Her Saturday workshop will deal with technique ("Learning to Move with Joy"), choreography ("Creation of Movement") and improvisation (Spontaneous Responses to the Joy of Creation").

Graduate of the University of North Carolina with a B.A. in dance education and Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary with an M.A. in religious education, Ms. Yopp travels extensively in the presentation of her workshops and demonstrations.

Additional information on the workshops is available by calling Helen Wise, 452-1553.

A-Once-a-Month Column of Views and Impressions By Members of the Princeton Clergy Association

THE NEED FOR COUNSELING OR THERAPY

By the Rev. Blan C. Aldridge
Nassau Presbyterian Church
Vice-President
Princeton Clergy Association

Have you ever thought or felt, "I hurt; there are members of my family who are hurting and we have no one to turn to!"

The field of counseling and psychotherapy has developed to such an extent that Martin Gross in a recent book can refer to us as a "psychological society." Many suffering individuals and their families have been greatly helped by the advances in this field. Many others, however, have refused to seek such assistance because, first, seemingly by nature, we are reluctant to acknowledge that we need help.

Second, with all the different approaches being offered for personal or family conflict problem solving, the average person in the street may get confused or turned off when it comes to looking for such help. "Shall I go to an analyst, a psychiatrist, a psychologist, a counselor, a therapist, a Jungian, a Gestaltist, a sex counselor, an EST group, an encounter group, to sensitivity training, assertive training or what or to whom?"

Here is where the church can be vitally important to its people by assisting them to think through and sort out the alternatives for the most effective help. Certainly there are abuses and there is some validity in suspecting certain individuals in the counseling and therapy field, but these fears and doubts and popular myths should not deter one from seeking help when the need arises. Unfortunately many people go on suffering year after year when a bit of exposure to a good counselor or therapist could bring tremendous relief.

In my own experience, I have known and do know many fine counselors and therapists who are extremely well trained, sensitive and highly committed to the relief of human emotional conflict, and I have personally witnessed the healing work they have performed. Your religious leader is an important person in this regard and his or her guidance should be sought when you are experiencing emotional conflict.

You will most likely find that he or she would be very willing to sit down with you and in many cases help you to work through the particular problem you are facing. However, if additional help is indicated, your rabbi, minister or priest is in a key position to know the effective helping professionals and agencies in the community and can assist you in an appropriate referral.

quilt or a jammed monthly calendar, to prints with a sombre, mystic quality or a mythic theme.

The edition of 50 is already selling, Zelda says happily. The portfolio is priced at $1,200, pre-publication, and $1,600 after the State Museum exhibit. Single prints are not available.

Next for Queenston Press? Not yet ready to be announced, but Zelda and Judy are always eager to consider commissions--the history of a company, a theme as meaningful to someone as "Woman" is to the artists represented in the portfolio--the possibilities, Zelda and Judy hope, are limitless.

Freedom from the possibility of a substantial loss because of a last minute distress sale.

Freedom to buy the house you want at today's prices. Not tomorrow's inflationary ones

Freedom to shop for the most favorable mortgage terms for your new home.

Freedom from the high cost of double moving

Freedom from the possible double ownership costs or mortgage payments, interest, taxes, insurance, and utilities

And freedom to coordinate moving dates and move when it's convenient for you to move.

The only qualifications are that your home meet certain minimum standards as a marketable property and that it be located within our effective service area.

A COMPLETE REAL ESTATE ORGANIZATION

We are still offering this easy-living ranch in Griggstown. The new owners ought to be informal people, people who enjoy sitting around one of the fireplaces, who like to barbeque, who prefer to be part of the living room action even while working in the kitchen, and also, people who would rather not spend much time on the maintenance of the property. If you need a house like this, and want three bedrooms, then call us—we've got it!
$89,900

From Mozart and Beethoven to 'Maple Leaf Rag,' New String Quartet May Be Life of Your Party

You mean you don't have your own string quartet in residence?

Well, some may but most do not. "The Lyric" is for them — for you, and for your next party.

"The idea of hiring a string quartet just doesn't occur to people," says "Lyric" founder — and cello — Suzanne Smith-Mead. "You probably think you'd have to pay a fortune! But we ourselves are very enthusiastic, we have a good time playing and we want to get other people to have a good time, too."

The four young "Lyric" women, highly skilled and talented, on the threshhold of the professional world of music, will take their two violins, viola and cello to your house and play for your guests--anything you want.

Mozart — and Rag Time. Mozart? Of course.

But have you ever heard "Maple Leaf Rag" on string quartet?

"It's fun to do the Joplin!" is Suzanne's enthusiastic remark. "We're not a pop group, but we're not strictly classical. We have arrangements of Scott Joplin rags, and Beatles songs, too."

Dressed very properly in long - sleeved white blouses and long black skirts, they make a highly professional appearance in nice harmony with the professionalism of their playing.

Yes, they realize that cocktail parties mean cocktail chatter and that the later bars of an early Haydn quartet may be drowned in chatter. But they say they don't mind.

Music for Drinking Tea To. There's a kind of music sometimes known as "potted palm" music because it evokes memories of tea - time in a 1910 hotel dining salon. They know that kind, too.

"There was a 19th - century composer named Fonzale who cranked out a lot of music for parties," Suzanne has found, and you might find the works of Fonzale — probably known in the Verona of 1890 as "the Fonz" — excellent as background.

"The Lyric" would love to play Strauss waltzes — something terribly festive like "Wine, Women and Song" and of course, "The Blue Danube."

A graduate student's wife (Andy is a doctoral candidate in composition in Princeton University's music department), Suzanne has a performance degree from Oberlin. She holds a master's in music from Stony Brook, where she studied cello with Bernard Greenhouse of the Beaux Arts Trio. She plays with the Trenton Symphony.

The first violin, Marilyn Reynolds, is also from Oberlin, and has been a student of Itzhak Perlman in New York, and at the Royal Conservatory in Brussels.

Rounding Out the Quartet. Viola is Laura Smietanka, another doctoral candidate in music at Princeton, and a student of Nancy Cirillo at Wellesley. She and Andy do "The Lyric's" arrangements. Second violin Deborah Katzburg attended the University of California at Berkeley and studied at the Manhattan School of Music. She's a graduate student's wife, also.

Marilyn played in the recent Friends of Music chamber concert devoted to the works of women composers, and Suzanne will perform in January at a Friends' concert of contemporary music. Both are teachers of their respective instruments.

Not a dilettante among them.

"It's not a life of glorious riches, being a grad student's wife," says Suzanne over her shoulder, as she heads for a bedroom in the Meads' "project" apartment to get five-month-old Andy up from his nap.

She'd known Marilyn at Oberlin, met Laura through Andy, ran into Debby quite by accident and — presto! — why not form a quartet?

"Everyone thought it was a fantastic idea," Suzanne laughs.

No Party Necessary. Of course, you don't have to hire "The Lyric" for a party. If you'd like to gather some music - loving friends for an evening of Beethoven, live, "The Lyric" would like nothing better. Early Beethoven quartets, for example? Or Gilbert and Sullivan?

And with Christmas coming, Suzanne suggests a festive party with a background of Medieval music, traditional carols, or perhaps some Bach.

Wedding receptions .... Bar Mitzvah .... church fund - raisers .... receptions. Suzanne's list of suggestions is endless.

Now, about fees. "The Lyric" has a package deal: $120 for two hours of playing. If you want them for only one hour, the fee is $80. If they play longer than two hours, the rate is $60 for each additional hour. (Give a party with a friend and split the fee?)

You needn't have a big house or even a conservatory with a potted palm. Just the desire to share with friends first - rate light or serious music, played with youthful verve and talent. After all, when's the last time Mozart came to your house, live?

—Katharine H. Bretnall

CON BRIO! "The Lyric", dressed for work. Only, it's not: "We don't so much rehearse, es just have a good time," smiles cello Suzanne Smith-Mead. Other members of "The Lyric" string quartet are, standing, Merilyn Reynolds (first violin) and Deborah Katzburg (second violin) and, seated, Laura Smielenka (viola).

LET'S TALK ABOUT

RAKE UP LEAVES, DON'T BURN THEM: THEY'LL MAKE IDEAL COMPOST

with Sam deTuro

October leaves that flutter down on lawns should be raked up once a week and put on a compost pile

Whether or not we experience another severe winter, trees and other plantings that have been weakened will be helped by mulching in the next few years. Leaf mulch contains proteins that turn into nitrates as well as trace elements which trees and plants require in minute quantities. Mulches help conserve soil moisture and aid in preventing root kill by winter cold and root cooking during periods of summer heat and drought.

Some favor two compost piles on one put only Oak leaves, which can serve as mulch for such acid-loving plants as Rhododendron, Laurel, Azalea and other Evergreens.

On any mulch pile, sprinkle a little fertilizer, lime and soil, layer-like, turn it over occasionally

If leaf fall on your lawn is not heavy, use a mechanical leaf-chopper that chews up the leaves into tiny bits and deposits them between blades of grass on the lawn.

All-Night Line Forms for Springsteen Tickets

Front row seats are scalping for $100. Lesser seats in the same regular $8.50 category are going for $50 and all 8,500 places in Jadwin Gym have been sold. About 1,000 of those are chairs on the gym floor.

For the Bruce Springsteen concert, of course. The rock singer will play Jadwin next Wednesday, November 1, at 8 p.m.

For days, his coming concert was an open secret all over the campus, although McCarter Theatre itself was telling callers it just didn't know. The rock star reportedly decided on Princeton after a disagreement with Rutgers officials over rehearsals in the gym. The Rutgers gym seats 14,000.

Meanwhile, fans called Springsteen's agent and his record company and were told that, yes, he would be in Princeton.

"And even we didn't know!" exclaims Michael Godnik of the McCarter staff. It was the end of the week — October 13 — before McCarter knew it was definite.

The Early Birds. Tickets went on sale at the McCarter box-office last Wednesday — theoretically at 9 a.m. At 1 in the afternoon on Tuesday, the first Princeton University students began to gather in the theatre lobby — sleeping bags, radios, books, sandwiches. They stayed in the lobby until 6, when McCarter had to invite them outside so that theatre staff could make the building ready for Tuesday night's performance of "A Month in the Country."

It was a chilly night to sleep outside but not an impossibility. By 10:30 p.m., there were about 30 hardy fans, ready to bed down for the night.

"We sold only to Princeton University students for the first three days," Mr. Godnik says. "You had to have your student ID — and your own ID, not somebody else's. We weren't selling to staff, faculty or high school students."

"It was really a fantastic line," Mr. Godnik continues. "Three or four guys made a list of everybody in line and gave each one a number. That way, nobody could cut in, you could leave the line for a while and come back to your own place."

An Early Start. Wednesday morning, there didn't seem much point in holding the ticket sales to its announced 9 a.m. start, so the box office opened at 8. Again, the students in line took over the logistics, allowing a certain number into the McCarter lobby at a time, to keep an orderly progress.

By the end of the day Wednesday, more than 4,600 tickets had been sold: 2,600 at McCarter and more than 2,000 through Ticketron. By 5 p.m., the center floor of Jadwin was all sold.

"We set a four-to-a-person limit on tickets," Mr. Godnik reports, "but some people did get back in line."

Saturday at 10 a.m., when ticket sales were opened to the public, there was another line and by noon, only 100 tickets were left. Oddly enough, those last 100 just dribbled out — a few until the 8:30 p.m. box office closing on Saturday night, the rest on Sunday morning until the final closing at noon.

Ticket prices were $6.50, $7.50 and $8.50. Or $100.

MAGIC, MAGIC, MAGIC!

Blackstone The Great. "The Sorcery of yesterday combined with the Enchantment of today" — that's the Los Angeles Times commenting on magician Harry Blackstone Jr., due in McCarter Wednesday, November 8 at 8:30 p.m.

Yes, it's the son of Blackstone the Great, who died in 1965 at the age of 80. Harry Jr. has adapted 20 of his father's acts, and incorporated them into his own evening of magic. There's the handkerchief routine, for example, in which, as Blackstone says, "the handkerchief jumps onto the floor, then up to the hand, and moves around at my command and finally back to the stage floor where it does a dance in time to the music."

Mr. Blackstone will also change a girl into an African lion — she's inside a stainless steel cage — produce red, white and blue doves and a live donkey and an elephant from an empty bass drum hung in space.

Young Blackstone, at the age of six months was appearing and disappearing as part of his father's stage illusions. At the age of four, he was identifying cards by "mental telepathy," as he toured with his parents from 1950 to 1962. For his appearance — McCarter promises no "disappearance" — tickets are now on sale.

PERFORMANCE ADDED

"Talking Heads." In response to popular demand, as the saying goes, McCarter has added a late-show — 11 p.m. — to the Talking Heads appearance at Alexander Hall this Saturday.

The trio, now a quartet, have been playing together for over three years, giving their first performance in New York at CBGB's in June, 1975. Early last year, they added Jerry Harrison as a keyboard player and converted from trio to quartet.

WILDER PLAY COMING

To Lawrenceville School. Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize comedy, "The Skin of Our Teeth," will be presented by the Periwig Club of the Lawrenceville School on November 3 and 4.

The play was written during the grimmest period of World War II to express the author's optimism over mankind's ability to escape every catastrophe "by the skin of our teeth." It centers on a typical American family, Mr. and Mrs. George Antrobus of Excelsior N.J., as it tells the story of the human race.

Tickets are $1 and may be reserved through the Jigger Shop in Lawrenceville. They also may be purchased at the Periwig box office in the Kirby Arts Center the week before the performance.

TO GIVE WORKSHOP

In Middle East Dance. Deshara, who is Lonnie Heisman of Cranbury, will give a Middle East dance workshop on Sunday, November 12, in the Princeton Ballet Society's studio in the Old School, Cranbury. Hassan Wakrim of Morocco will be the featured dancer and instructor.

shown over the next months of the 1978-79 season in the "Movies - from - McCarter" series. That's the one that used to be known as the "Movies - at - McCarter" series. This time, however, films will be screened not only at McCarter Theatre itself, but in Kresge Auditorium on the Princeton University campus.

The series will, in fact, open in Kresge (it's in the Frick chemistry building on Washington Road) with showings Tuesday and Thursday, November 7 and 9 of Bertrand Tavernier's "Let Joy Reign Supreme," a re - creation of pre - Revolutionary France during the years of Philippe, Duke of Orleans.

Subsequent programs in November will feature "The Lacemaker," Bertolucci's "1900" starring Robert DeNiro and Gerard Depardieu, and Joan Micklin Silver's "Between the Lines," by the director of "Hester Street."

Other titles are, from Germany, Wim Wenders' "The American Friend" and Werner Herzog's "Stroszek;" from Sweden, Bo Widerberg's "The Man on the Roof" and Gunnel Lindblom's "Summer Paradise;" from Spain, Bunuel's "That Obscure Object of Desire" and Saura's "Cria!" from Canada, Richard Benner's "Outrageous!" from Great Britain, Tony Richardson's "Joseph Andrews" and Ridley Scott's "The Duellists;" from France, Truffaut's "The Man Who Loved Women" and Jean - Jacques Annaud's "Black and White in Color;" from Italy, "Padre Padrone" by the Taviani brothers.

The series will present six nther American films: Sidney Lumet's "Equus," Chaplin's "The Women Of Paris," Robert Young's "Short Eyes," Jonathan Demme's "Citizen's Band" (also known as "Handle With Care"), and two feature - length documentaries: "Word Is Out," a film about growing up gay, made by a communal group of six San Francisco filmmakers; and "Running Fence," the saga of the white nylon fence constructed across two California counties by the artist Christo.

Since the films vary in length, McCarter has set different starting times. A brochure on the complete series, giving times and dates, is now available at the theatre box - office.

BENEFIT PLANNED

For Street Theatre. Hallowe'en masks, symbolic not only of the holiday but of theatre itself, will be on display when Street Theatre holds its benefit cocktail party this Sunday (5-7 p.m., at the home nf Shirley and Woody Kauffman, 148 Library Place.)

Sidney Ratner, of Princeton, has donated an African mask from his collection for the party. Other African masks, and masks used in theatrical productions, will be on display.

Each summer, Street Theatre provides theatre opportunities to about 200 youths in the area ranging in age from seventh-graders to college students. They produce plays, study acting, stagecraft, directing and technical skills in the process, and present free public performances in outdoor locations around the Princeton area. A mobile stage carries set and crew to parks, schools and the grounds of various institutions. A children's' production is also presented during the summer at day-care centers and camps.

All those who would like to support Street Theatre are invited to Sunday's party. Bob Parham will entertain at the piano, and refreshments will be served.

Members of the Friends of Street Theatre, organizing the party, are Debbie Bellow, Cher Cardon, Betty Davison, Betty Fenton, Carter and Hazel Henderson, Peggy Henning, Carol and Paul Jacobs, Carolyn Kappes, Shirley Kauffman, Ellen Pearl, Barbara Schleyer and Yota Switzgable. MUSIC

WORKS BY WOMEN

In Ensemble Concert. Three American premieres, plus rarely performed pieces, will highlight a program of music honoring three of Germany's most outstanding composers, all of them women.

The 19th and 20th century music will be presented in concert by members of the Princeton Cantata Ensemble on Friday, November 3, at 8:30 in the Miller Chapel, Princeton Theological Seminary. Admission is free. Featured will be compositions by Clara Schumann, Fanny Mendelssohn and Grete von Zieritz.

Von Zieritz, who is now in her 70s, was born in Austria but has lived in Berlin most of her life. In 1928 she received the Mendelssohn Staatspreis for composition and the Schubert Prize awarded by the Columbia Phonograph Company of New York City. Her Japanese songs, which will be performed in this concert with a piece for clarinet and piano, first achieved success in 1921 in the Berliner Singakademie.

Clara Schumann (1819-69) ranks among the great pianists of her time, having appeared in all the major concert halls of Europe. At the age of eight she wrote her first compositions and at nine she began the concertizing which was to continue throughout her life. Two piano pieces and six songs will be performed in this concert.

The piano compositions of Fanny Mendelssohn, sister of Felix, indicate that she must have been a very gifted pianist. This is particularly evident in her Piano Trio, which, as far as the Princeton Cantata Ensemble is able to determine, will be performed for the first time in America during this concert.

The performers are Arlene Jones, piano; Victoria Pehta, violin; Rachel Wascher, cello; and Anne Hoffmann, soprano. Ms. Hoffman researched and compiled the program. George Jones will perform a solo sonata for clarinet and Barry Farber of New York City will be the guest pianist.

YWCA RESUMES SERIES

Of Chamber Concerts. The YWCA will present the first in this year's series of Musical Interludes on Sunday at 2. The concert will feature trio sonatas by C.P.E. Bach, Telemann, Handel and Bodin De Boismortier performed by Robert Cayne, oboe; Portia Sonnenfeld, cello; Olga Gorelli, harpsichord and Jim Polachek, violin.

Originally from New York, Mr. Cayne is a member of the New Jersey Pops who has played in the New York Orchestral Society and the New York City Symphony. He studied oboe with the late Harry Shulman, a member of the NBC Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Arturo Toscanini.

Mrs. Sonnenfeld studied music at Oberlin College and Roosevelt University and with Sheridan Russell in London. She has taught strings at Princeton High School since 1955 and has conducted chamber music workshops. Ms. Sonnenfeld is an accomplished pianist as well as a cellist, and has performed widely throughout the United States and with Young Audiences.

Mrs. Gorelli is as graduate of Imaculata College, The Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, The Yale School of Music and Smith College. She has studied composition with Paul Hindemith and Darius Milhaud and has composed two operas and some dances, songs and chamber music.

Mr. Polachek, who studied music at the Manhattan School of Music, is new to Princeton this year. He has come from Columbia University to Princeton University where he is a member of the East Asian Studies Department.

The series of Sunday afternoon concerts is free and open to the public. There will be a fire and hot spiced tea. For further information call Arlene Berman, 924-4825 ext. 22.

RECITAL PLANNED

By Baritone. Baritone Barry Ellison, a member of the voice faculty at Westminster Choir College, will give a recital in the college's Playhouse on Monday at 8. The public is invited to attend without charge. The program will include songs by Purcell, Brahms, Thomas, Donizetti, Ravel and Ives.

Mr. Ellison is a singer, an accompanist and a conductor. He earned a Master of Music in Voice Performance from the University of Michigan where he was as pupil of John McCollum and was a lead in the university's productions of "Cosi fan Tutte," "Mme.

HARVARD DUE HERE

For Football Concert. The Princeton and Harvard Glee Clubs will combine in the annual Football Concert on Friday evening from 8 to 9:30 in Alexander Hall. The concert will mark the first appearance with the Harvard Glee Club of its new conductor Jameson Marvin.

Mr. Marvin is the newly-appointed director of choral activities at Harvard where he conducts the Collegium Musicum as well as the Glee Club. For the past nine years he has been choral director at Vassar College. His specialties include performance of early music as well as choral conducting.

The Harvard Glee Club will open the program with a group of early selections by Rhau, Genet and Agricola, and will conclude the first portion of the program with compositions by Dvorak and Schumann. Princeton will then sing two works by Schubert (marking the 150th anniversary of the death of the composer in 1828), the "Pater Noster" by Verdi (to be conducted by the group's new assistant conductor, Sheila H. Sullivan), and the setting (in Russian) of "Joshua" by Modeste Mussergsky.

Harvard's second group will include Benjamin Britten's "The Ballad of Little Musgrave and Lady Barnard" as well as compositions by Poulenc and arrangements by Mr. Marvin and others, including Songs of Harvard. Princeton follows with the "Gypsy Life" by Schumann, "Poor Wayfaring Stranger" arranged by Edward B. Lawton, and "Got Glory and Honor," a black spiritual arranged by Prof. Walter Nollner, conductor of the Princeton University Glee Club. The "Princeton Football Medley" concludes the Princeton group, and the alma maters "Fair Harvard" and "Old Nassau" conclude the concert.

Tickets may be obtained from Princeton glee Club members, by phoning 452-3048, or at the box office on the evening of the performance. Reserved section seats are $3, general admission is $2, and student tickets in the latter category are $1. This is the first appearance of the Harvard Glee Club in this area since 1976, and they are not scheduled to appear again in Princeton until 1980.

The show will be given this Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the large gymnasium at the high school. Tickets, at $1 for students and $1.50 for adults, are now on sale at the high school. No tickets will be sold at the door. Anyone showing a Golden Age card will be admitted free.

The town center, dawn to dark, will be described through choreography designed by Mary Pat Cahill, Lynn Cline and faculty advisor Carol Wimberg. David Amarel and John Tenney are the masters of ceremonies, introducing skits about Nassau Street, Princeton University's P-Rade and University reunions, PHS home-coming, the P.J. & B. train, theatre and movies, food, and of course, high school activities. Band music, directed by Jack Horner, will accompany the action.

Lights, scenery and sound will be co-ordinated by a backstage crew consisting of Eric Pike, Peter Thompson, Adam Speigel and Ken Glucksburg.

POSTERS FEATURED

At Nassau Gallery. Since the development of the four-color lithographic process in France at the end of the 19th century (see TOWN TOPICS Sept. 27) the poster has been considered an art form. Renewed interest in graphic processes during the past two decades has again brought the poster before the public as a serious graphic entity.

Princeton's newest gallery, The Nassau Gallery at 20 Nassau Street, is featuring European and American art posters. Posters from museums and gallerics represent major exhibitions and noted artists. A profusion of rich color, visual excitement and stylistic range to be found within the collection makes it difficult to focus on a single work. The artists represented range from Monet to Steinberg, and the museums from the Metropolitan to the Pompidou.

THIS MATISSE POSTER is part of the collection of European and American art posters on display at Princeton's newest gallery, The Nassau Gallery.

At the Princeton University Art Museum. "What Photographs Look Like" spans the history of the camera within a small display. A diverse collection of photographs covers the more than one hundred years since the first image was made in a camera. Included are examples of the works of significant photographers and a fair representation of contemporary styles.

An 1843 calotype is one of the earlies in the collection. Nineteenth century European and American photographs include records of travel, the romanticized portrayals of the late nineteenth century, and early efforts to develop poetic imagery from the familiar.

Some of the more significant 20th century photographers are represented including a fair sampling of those working contemporary modes. Works by Jerry Uelsmann, Rnbert Frank, Robert Ficher and William Larson represent the more complex photographic constructions and stylistic combinations developed by contemporay photographers.

The photos are complemented by various publications including Camera Work, Apertures, and books and portfolios by photographers. Books employing photos as illustration and a book of engravings inspired by photographs are also included, as is the first highly significant book of photographic images, Henry Talbot Fox's "The Pencil of Nature."

An exhibition of 19th century European drawings exemplifies the many different stylistic approaches to drawing employed at that time. Delicate English watercolor sketches contrast with the loose expressive lines of Daubigny and Corot. Formal German renditions, loose wash and ink studies, illustrative works and figure sketches by many artists, are included in the collection.

At Grovers Mill Gallery. Figurative paintings by Pat Hutchinson demonstrate the creative richness that can be found within a realistic portrayal of a traditional subject. Representational paintings rendered in excitingly developed color which is applied in a painterly fashion Hutchinson uses color accents with deft restraint to create visual passages of tint and tone that result in exciting paintings whose artistic value goes far beyond the essence of the subject.

At The Present Day Club. Traditional watercolors by three painters are featured at the Present Day Club. Mary Johnson, Nummie Warga and Betty Whelan employ somewhat different approaches to their work, although they all remain within traditional boundaries. Both Warga and Whelan use soft washes and conventional brushwork styles from a muted palette. Johnson employs a more primitive approach, using strong color and more opacity with heavier brushwork.

At the Eye For Art. Still life and landscape by Barbara Burdell employ representational imagery using a high keyed palette. Although the artist uses basically naturalistic tones, there is an intensity in her use of cool color that takes her work out of the traditional realm. Interior studies and landscape demonstrate a concern for space and a sense of geometric balance.

At Gallery 100, Color photographs by David Davis include figurative works, landscape and architectural studies. There is a great variety in subject matter and manner of presentation. Davis is most successful in his more restrained works. Architectural studies and some landscape display the restraint that brings out the best in color photography. The photographer is weakest where he seeks to portray the high drama of sunset, rushing water or other visually intense images, lending the element of cliche to the print.

EXHIBITS

The Anne Reid Art Gallery at Princeton Day School will have a showing of museum-quality primitive art from Africa and New Guinea November 1 to 30. West African wood carvings, ceremonial objects and textiles will be shown as well as masks and wood carvings from New Guinea.

The pieces from New Guinea will represent two distinct geographical areas, as well as two distinct artistic styles. The Asmat region lies on the western half of the island within the borders of the Indonesian Province of West Irian. The Sepik River area is near the northern coast, on the eastern half, in the recently independent country of Papua, New Guinea.

FROM NEW GUINEA: This woodcarving is part of an exhibit of primitive art which will be on view at Princeton Day School during November.

Of these two types of art, the Sepik is perhaps the more familiar. Although in one of the most remote parts of the world in relation to the United States, it is still more accessible than the Asmat. Far more travelers have visited the Sepik and have brought back samples of that art. The Asmat must be reached by air charter, missionary plane, or private boat. Both the Papuan and Indonesian governments strongly restrict the art that leaves New Guinea.

Although the stark Asmat woodcarvings differ from the more colorful Sepik River masks and figures, both are prime representatives of primitive Oceanic art. The two regions remain primitive today and art forms an integral part of their cultures.

Sepik River masks almost always represent a tribal ancestor, although they may be portrayed in the form of a human, a bird, or even a crocodile. They are the resting places of the ancestral spirit.

Many of the works included in the show are currently being shown at the Museum of Natural History. They may be purchased. The gallery is open to the public Monday through Friday from 8:30 to 3:30.

An exhibition of paintings by Vincent Ceglia will be held November 5 through 25 at Grover's Mill Graphics art gallery, Princeton Junction.

Mr. Ceglia has had over 30 one-man shows throughout the United States as well as Europe. His work has been shown locally in the New Jersey State Museum, Philadelphia Museum of Art, Newark Museum, American Watercolor Society, Philadelphia Art Alliance, Museum of the Philadelphia Civic Center, Rider College and others.

A recipient of many awards and recognitions, his paintings are in the permanent collections of numerous colleges and museums. He is a professor in the Visual Arts Department of Mercer County Community College.

A reception, to which the public is invited to meet the artist, will be held Sunday, November 5, from 1 to 4.

Tigers' Hopes for Victory over Harvard High After Colgate Becomes Season's First Victim

Princeton and Harvard, both winning important games last week after trailing during the second half, will meet Saturday at 1:30 in Palmer Stadium hoping to maintain the momentum that is such a major foundation of winning football. The loser will run the risk of being a prime candidate for the Ivy League cellar.

The victor should be the team which displays the better defense, an asset on which both have been in somewhat short supply this fall. The Tigers might have gone into the contest with something of an edge had not co-captain and linebacker Bob Ehrlich followed defensive tackle Joe Lundie to the sidelines for the rest of the year with a knee injury for which he has already undergone an operation.

LAST-SECOND HEROICS: Princeton linebacker Russ Moyer (who wes in the game because of the injury to Co-Captain Bob Ehrlich) leaping to intercept the pass for the ettempted two-point conversion thet would have given Colgate victory. Tigers won, 13-12.

The 68 points which Rutgers and Brown recorded against the Tigers have been pared to two touchdowns apiece for Columbia and Colgate, but the latter ran and passed for 403 yards Saturday before succumbing in the final seconds, 13-12. It is the second year in a row that Princeton has lost its defensive captain, cornerback Larry Lutz having suffered a similar fate last fall.

If the defense is still in occasional diffuculty--such as yielding an 80-yard Colgate touchdown drive that took only 1:42 with the clock running out — the offense is showing signs that all the painstaking attention it has received is finally starting to pay dividends. Sophomore tailback Cris Crissy had a fine afternoon and junior quarterback Steve Reynolds nailed down the starting assignment with a solid second half.

SPORTS In Princeton

Harvard Inconsistent. As is almost invariably the case, even when it has better material than this year, Harvard is not the same team from one Saturday to the next. The Crimson was beaten in its opener by Columbia for the first time in six years, then trimmed U Mass and Colgate but was knocked off by Cornell. From an 0-2 mark in Ivy action, it came back to upset unbeaten Dartmouth and tie the Ivy race into as tight a knot as the standings have shown in many years. Mathematically, every team but Princeton still has a shot at a 5-2 tie for the title with the games this weekend taking the season past the half-way mark.

It is in particular during the last seven years against Princeton that Harvard's somewhat unfathomable inability to play up to the level of its potential has been evident. While the Tigers have failed to top the .500 mark during that time, they have beaten the Crimson four times, on occasion with personnel that has been markedly inferior. Coach Joe Restic has a winning percentage against every Ivy opponent save Princeton and Yale, and it is a rare occasion when the Tigers can match the Elis in any aspect of current day Ivy League football.

Larry Brown, who passed for 1159 yards and 11 TDs in 1977, is the spearhead of the Harvard offense, and is ahead of his last year's average. He runs with the ball as often as any of the Crimson's three other principal ball carriers, Ralph Polillio and Paul Connors, halfbacks, and Matt Granger, a 210-lb. fullback.

The backs and ends Rich Horner and Paul Sablock are Brown's principal targets, with Harvard gaining somewhat more in the air than through its running game this fall. This isn't necessarily what Restic would like, because his intriguing multiflex offense is geared to the use of one or more top-flight ball carriers, but they are lacking among Harvard's 1978 personnel.

Sets in Unlimited Number. The multiflex can deploy every offensive set known to football, ranging from one in which the quarterback is the only possible ball carrier (the other backs are all wideouts) to one in which the line is so unbalanced that an end is the only man on one side of the center. What bugs numbers of Harvard alumni is that the unusual variations occasionally confuse not only the opposition but the Crimson itself. Geared as it is to the big play rather than ball control, Restic's imaginative approach is always an added helping of Saturday college football for the spectator.

Defensively, Harvard has the problem of using numerous newcomers after last year's veterans finished the season at the bottom of the league statistically. Among its problems was Bob Isom, who carried the ball 44 times last year, gaining 209 yards while leading the Tigers to a 20-7 upset at Cambridge. This year, Columbia, Colgate, Cornell and Dartmouth have all scored 19 points or more against the Crimson, and that's the target of Princeton's still uncertain offense, whose highwater mark this fall is 14.

QUICK LOOK AT HARVARD

OFFENSE: The Crimson's strong point. Senior Larry Brown, averaging around 55% in passing, keeps the Harvard attack a constant threat.

DEFENSE: Began the season largely inexperienced and has yielded three touchdowns apiece to four or five opponents. If Tigers can do as well, they may be in business.

CHIEF ASSET: Coach Joe Restic's difficult-to-solve multiflex offense directed by a good quarterback in Larry Brown. Tigers should have hands full.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Defense, which has had season-long difficulties, may have them compounded by playing first game away from home.

See if you can guess the answer to this football question ... Of all the passers in the history of the National Football League, which one completed the most passes in one season? ... The answer is Sonny Jurgensen ... He completed 288 passes in 1967, and no other NFL passer has ever topped that.

Did you know that the Los Angeles Rams were the first football team — pro or college — to have a design or insignia on their helmets? ... It happened in 1947 when halfback Fred Gehrke, now general manager of the Denver Broncos, painted rams horns on the Los Angeles helmets — and started the trend.

Did you know a major pro football team once had 5 different head coaches in one season! ... Chicago of the old All-America Conference, in 1946, started with Dick Hanley as head coach, but he left after 3 games ... Then, 3 men were appointed co-coaches, Bob Dove, Ned Mathews and Wilbur Wilkin, and they coached for 5 games ... Then Pat Boland was named head coach for the last 6 games of the season.

the visitors a 6-3 halftime lead turned into considerable melodrama in the last two minutes of the final quarter. Eventually, Frank Navarro realized his first Princeton victory, and if more follow, it will erase memories of the fact that the team's 0-3-1 mark going into the game was the first time in 108 years of football that the Tigers had failed to win any of their first four games.

Princeton's lone touchdown of the afternoon came in the third quarter when Crissy took a short pass to the right of the line of scrimmage from Reynolds and went in for six after reversing his field twice. A key block from tight end Bob Arlin was a major factor out Crissy earned much of the run on his fine broken-field ability. Less than a minute and a half into the final quarter, Howe booted another field goal, this one from 25 yards out, and it was 13-10, Princeton.

With 2:19 to go, Bill Powers's punt sailed into the end zone — he disdains the sidelines, for some reason, and hasn't been able to hang the ball for goal-line coverage. Colgate promptly set sail for the other end zone, reaching it in 11 plays, six of them passes. The last, a brief roll-out by quarterback Alex Mancini and buttonhook reception just across the goal line by halfback Jim Comforti, was so foolproof that it seemed all Colgate needed to add a two-point conversion was to run the play again.

Just before the ball was snapped, however, safety Paul Converse called timeout for Princeton and Colgate coach Fred Dunlap used the break to send in quarterback John Marzo with a different roll-out pass. This one went so far to the right that Princeton had plenty of time to cover receivers well and when Marzo tried to throw over the head of linebacker Russ Moyer, the Tiger junior picked it off with a leaping grab to nail down the first one-point victory since Rutgers was beaten, 22-21, 11 years ago.

Big Day for Crissy. The makings of a standout Princeton ball carrier were unveiled to the 14,000 spectators in Saturday's brilliant October sunshine. Carrying 29 times, Cris Crissy ran for 136 yards, caught two passes for 41 more and returned a kickoff for 49. They don't give him any protection on punts, preferring to try for blocked kicks, or he would have additional open field opportunity. If Crissy gives further indication that he can take over as a sophmore where Isom left off last year, the Tigers' will slowly but surely increase their point total.

Reynolds, at quarterback, may have come a bit more of age in the second half, after completing only one of five passes in the first. He was 6 for 11 in the last two quarters and finished the day with 43 yards rushing and 133 passing, a fine total offense showing of 176.

He was, however, aided vastly by the officials' oversight in allowing his 55-yard first-quarter pass to split end Steve Tishman. It was thrown three or four yards beyond the line of scrimmage, and completed easily because all but one defender had gone forward to stop the run.

Harvard at its best Saturday should have more than Princeton can handle. The Tigers' hopes lie in further improvement by Reynolds and Crissy, and the possibility that they can continue the recent performance of other underdog Princeton teams against the Crimson.

— Donald C. Stuart

PHS STILL STRUGGLING

St. Anthony Next Grid Foe. A big - play team, Princeton High School came up with one more last week against visiting West Windsor football — a 47-yarder by Paul Miles, who took a pitchback and went all the way down the sidelines — but for the rest of the contest the Pirate defense was more than adequate.

In discussing the 23-6 loss to West Windsor, PHS coach Jim Beachell commented that the victors had played well on defense. "We couldn't get anything going. Their 50 and 62 (linebackers Rich Williams and Rick Pesce) were really outstanding."

The WW secondary limited PHS to three pass completions and 21 yards and 122 on the ground while spearing the Little Tigers with 152 yards in the air on nine completions in 19 attempts hy quarterback Ralph Barletta The visitors balanced their attack with 120 yards rushing.

Princeton (1-3-1) turns next to St. Anthony, which has not won in its last 17 tries. On paper an ideal contest for PHS to break into the win column again.

But St. Anthony under new coach Kevin Hardiman has shown signs of finally getting untracked, none more noticeable than last week's effort which saw the Iron Mikes lose, 7-6, to highly - favored Steinert in the final period.

Beachell has called Iron Mike quarterback Anthony Morrelo one of the finest in the area (he was sidelined with an injury in the Steinert game) and if he returns, Beachell and his squad will have their hands full on Saturday. The game will be played in Trenton, starting at 11.

Barletta to Bahr. After a scoreless first period, West Windsor's Barletta discovered that Princeton's zone pass coverage could be picked apart. Starting on his own 38, he connected three times in a row to back Pete Bahr, the longest a 30 - yarder that carried to the PHS 19.

Barletta then hit end Kevin Brakel for a first down on the eight and three plays later found Bahr on a slant - in from six yards out for the TD. Barletta was 5 - for - 5 in the nine - play, 62-yard drive. Joe Davis kicked the point after.

Beachell defended his zone coverage. "They were just beating our own people; they were that much better than we were," he said.

A little over a minute later, the sophomore Paul Miles, who one PHS fan predicted will become one of Princeton's finest runners before he graduates, gave the home team its only score. Tom Reimann's PAT attempt, however, went wide to the right.

With 30 seconds left in the half, Barletta and Bahr teamed up again, Barletta hitting Bahr cutting over the middle. Bahr bobbled the pass momentarily but he finally pulled it in and was off on a 41-yard scoring romp. Barletta then passed to Mark Potts for the two - point conversion.

West Windsor's third score was a "gimme" and it came on the last play of the third period PHS was deep in its

To Determine Seedings. One sure way to gain an advantage in the playoffs for the State Prep Class B title is to be ranked as the number one seed in the tournament, and the Princeton Day soccer team will play Rutgers Prep at home this Wednesday with just that in mind. The seeding committee will meet Thursday.

PDS has won both its games against league opponents (Wardlaw and Montclair) and a win against the New Brunswick school would virtually sew up the top spot in the seedings. The team seeded first has the advantage of playing all its games at home.

Now at 9-1-1 after a pair of triumphs last week, the Blue and White should be able to handle Rutgers Prep, but it will have to be done without the benefit of practice Monday or Tuesday for many players who will be off looking at colleges.

Friday, the Panthers will journey to Newark Academy for what should be another tough encounter. Coach John Jameson feels Newark is extremely difficult to beat on its own field.

Goalie Tony Dell recorded two more shutouts last week, bringing his season total to five, as PDS whipped Montgomery 2-0, and Wardlaw, 4-0.

A second period goal by Evan Press off a throw - in by Larry Pierson got the Blue and White a 1-0 lead against Montgomery. Jay Nusblatt appeared ready to head the ball, but it carried instead all the way over to Press who waited unguarded near the goal.

Geoff George added an insurance marker in the third quarter when he converted a nice cross from the left side from Press. Dell had eight saves, including a nice save on a breakaway; PDS outshot the home team 20-9.

Against Wardlaw, before a parents and Alumni Day crowd, PDS played "perhaps our best game of the year" according to Jameson. Tony Dell had just one save to make all afternoon, while the Panthers peppered the visitors' goal with 22 shots.

Larry Pierson got the scoring underway in the second period when he scored on a corner kick that brushed by a Wardlaw defender. George fed Nusblatt for a second goal in the third period, and the senior striker scored again in the fourth on a pass from Billy Ross. Press ended the scoring later when he put in a pass from Jim Burke.

WHO'S IN FIRST?

PHS Soccer Team. It may not last — the infighting is ferocious — but the Princeton High School soccer team found itself in first place last week in the Colonial Valley Conference race, following its 1-0 victory over West Windsor.

The Little Tigers enjoy a 5-2-1 league mark, one point ahead of St. Anthony which is 5-5-2. The two teams will clash Thursday at 3:45 at the Valley Road School field and PHS coach Ed Beacham labeled the upcoming tilt "the big one."

DEJA VU? Nine-yaer old Michael Hunninghake of 154 Dodds Lane hes advanced to the area competition of Punt Pass & Kick to be held Sunday during half-time of the Philadelphia Eagles vs. St. Louis Cardinals game in Veterens Stadium. A year ago, Michael won the erea competition et the Vet en route to capturing the national 8-year old championship at the Super Bowl in New Orleans. He is holding the national trophy he won.

Two other teams battling for league honors are Lawrence and Notre Dame. PHS will play these two teams in its final two of the season. Overall, the Little Tigers are 7-4-1.

Bolster Shot Decides. West Windsor had won only one game in seven when PHS came for a visit Thursday but the Pirates gave the Little Tigers all they could handle. Tom Bolster's unassisted shot midway in the third period was the only score in the game.

"We had a lot of chances, we just couldn't put the ball in the goal," said Beacham. West Windsor played very well."

PHS goalie Norm Lewis had 10 saves for PHS, which had a thin 18-15 shot advantage over the home team. Pirate goalie Bill Burke turned aside seven shots.

1-0 Reprise. The Little Tigers won their second 1-0 game in a row Monday when they defeated Hightstown on Tom Bolster's penalty kick with eight minutes left in the game. Princeton dominated the contest, outshooting the hometown Rams, 29 to 5, "but we just couldn't get the ball in the hole," said Beacham. "It was terrible."

Those five shots by Hightstown tells something about the PHS defense. "They're a helluva lot better than I thought they were; they're just not giving up any goals," said Beacham as he lauded his defensive players. In 13 games, PHS has yielded just 16 goals.

With its league victory over

Hightstown, PHS clings to its one point lead over St. Anthony, which defeated Hopewell Valley the same day, 3-1. Lawrence also stopped West Windsor, 3-1, and is two points behind. It's a barn-burner.

PHS GIRLS OUSTED

From State Tennis Tourney. NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 2 finalist, but no further.

That was the lot of the Princeton High School girls tennis team last week as Rumson-Fair Haven eliminated the Little Tigers for the second year in a row. Because Rumson had virtually the same team back, PHS coach Bill Humes knew the defending Group 2 state champions would be tough.

Overwhelming would have been a better word, as Rumson shut out PHS 5-0. Closest to winning for PHS were the number one doubles of Sarah and Lisa Merians, who nonetheless went down in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.

Rumson was very strong in singles play, said Humes, too strong for Patty Dinella, Diane Aronovic and Julie Schwartz, the number one, two and three singles players for the Blue and White. Debbie Blair and Melanie Goldfield lost the number two doubles. The loss was the first for PHS in 11 matches.

Earlier in the week, PHS triumphed in its second state match, edging Shore Regional, 3-2.

Blair and Schwartz and Lisa Merians and Goldfield won doubles matches for PHS, while Aronovic won her singles battle to give PHS the match. PHS had been hampered by the loss of its number one singles player, Muffy Ellis, who was sidelined with a foot injury.

In between, PHS defeated Hopewell Valley, 4-1, in a Colonial Valley Conference match. The lone setback occurred in Ellis's match. She had lost the first set, 6-3, and was trailing in the second, 4-1, when she injured her foot and had to withdraw.

EASY FOURTH WIN

For Lawrenceville Eleven. The Lawrenceville School football team assured itself of a .500 season Saturday by routing Williamson Trade, 41-0.

Williamson went into the contest looking for its first win over Lawrenceville in the 18 years of competition between the two, but the Larries' offense proved to be too much. The Raiders surged to a 35-0 halftime lead and coasted the rest of the way to record their fourth victory of the season against one loss.

Lawrenceville scored early in the first quarter when Jim Furey, who has averaged more than 100 yards rushing per game, went over from four yards out off tackle. The TD was the first of two for Furey and capped a seven-play, 52-yard drive.

The Larries then marched 65 yards in six plays on the succeeding series for their second score. Joe Staley capped the drive with a nine-yard touchdown reception from Jay Budd.

Before the half was over, Furey scored again on a three-yard carry, Budd passed to Staley for another score and Bob Larson went over from 11 yards out after the Larries had recovered a snap that carried over W-T punter Joe Tumelty.

It marked the fifth time that Lawrenceville, regarded by many as probably the finest Larry eleven since 1971, gained more than 300 yards on offense. It will try to make it 5-1 Saturday when it plays perennial rival Peddie in Hightstown.

TITLE WINNERS NAMED

In Mixed Doubles. Tom and Nancy Dennery, Muriel and Barry Hibbs and Richard and Nancy Skalinski have won mixed doubles tournaments in West Windsor.

All of the finals were close matches. The Dennerys won the red title with a 7-5, 7-6 conquest of Leslie and Bob Nielsen; the Hibbs captured the green division with a 6-4, 0-6, 6-4 win over Wanda and Bob Bowen; and the Skalinskis won the blue title after a 7-6, 5-7, 6-3 win over Sue and Gerry Wang.

PHS RUNNER FIRST

In CVC Cross Country Meet. Hightstown won the Colonial Valley Conference cross country championships held Saturday at Washington Crossing Park, but the fastest runner among all participants was Princeton High's John Kellogg.

Kellogg covered the distance in 16:10 as PHS finished second to Hightstown, 44-51. West Windsor came in third and Hopewell Valley, fourth. Jeff Knoll of Hightstown placed second behind Kellogg.

PHS IS ON TOP

In Field Hockey. Scoring three goals in the first period, the Princeton High School girls field hockey team defeated West Windsor last week, 4-1, eliminating the Pirates from the state competition in the process.

Missey McCloskey scored twice for PHS and Kathy Tomlinson and Courtney Hoff once each as Princeton increased its record to 9-2-2, tops in the country. Hightstown is second with a 7-2-1 mark, while Hopewell Valley is third at 7-3-1.

PDS WHIPS WARDLAW

To Meet Hun Friday. Princeton Day and Hun will renew their rivalry on the gridiron this Friday, with the Panthers cast, as usuasl, in the role of underdog. Kickoff is set for 3:30 at PDS.

The Blue and White has been in this position every year since the series began in 1967, but as evidenced by its 10-7 victory 1976, an upset is a possibility.

Hun is only 1-3-1 on the year, but that comes from playing a schedule against opponents far tougher than PDS. Bigger, stronger and fortified with a couple of standout post-graduate players, Hun should pick up its second win.

Although, PDS will still be missing receiver and cornerback Randy Shelton, it is in the best shape physically and mentally it has been since the season began. The loss to Peddie two weeks ago was nonetheless a positive game for the Panthers, and last Saturday they gave their best performance of the season, defeating Wardlaw, 21-8.

"Both our offense and defense did a fine job out there," commented PDS coach Jim Walker. The offense came up with three touchdowns, and the defense limited the visitors to a rather meaningless score late in the fourth quarter, when the Blue and White was using its second team.

After a scoreless first period, PDS got going on a 40-yard run on the option by junior quarterback Neil Munroe, who got all the way down to the Wardlaw five. Two plays later, Munroe carried the ball in for six points. Price made his first of three conversions, and the Panthers never looked back.

Later in the quarter the Blue and White had the ball on their own 20. Munroe pitched out to Billy Haynes and the junior halfback cut to the outside and scampered untouched down the left sideline for an 80-yard scoring play. Haynes ended with 101 yards in eight carries.

The third period proved scoreless as Price just missed a 35-yard field goal attempt, and then came close again on a 30-yarder at the beginning of the fourth. A little later linebacker Kent Wilkenson put the icing on the cake when he intercepted a Wardlaw pass, and ran it back 15 yards to the losers' five. Jeff Freda took it in on the next play.

Tim Murdoch had another outstanding game, catching three passes on offense, and marking a dozen tackles on defense.

PDS has no easy task ahead of it Friday, but if it can demonstrate the same determination against Hun, it should be able to stay with the Raiders.

HUN VS. PDS

On Gridiron Friday. A Hun School football team which needs some success if it hopes to salvage the current season will oppose rival Princeton Day School next.

Originally scheduted for Saturday, the contest has been moved back a day to Friday at 3:30 at the PDS field. "It's always a competitive, high-spirited game," remarked Hun coach Dave Leete.

Last week, Hun dropped its third decision (it has one win and a tie) but Leete was not gloomy about the loss. Delbarton was undefeated and a projected easy winner, but at the end of the first period, Hun led, 8-7. "The kids played very well," said Leete.

"The second half was pretty much ours," continued Leete. "We had several opportunities to score. Three or four times we got close; we just didn't get it in."

Delbarton came back with two more scores in the second period, to win its fifth, 20-8.

On the game's first play from scrimmage, Delbarton's Matt Monahan went off tackle from the Delbarton 20 to the Hun 5. "That's their bread and butter play. We knew it was coming," said Leete. "In the second half, we shut it off."

Monahan, rushed for 179 yards, scored later from the three-yard line to give Delbarton a quick lead. He went over twice more on runs of five and one yards.

Hun quarterback Arvie Powell shocked the Green Wave with a keeper down the left sideline that carried all the way for a 55-yard TD run. He then passed to Mark Leadum for the two-point conversion and Hun's short-lived lead.

Leete praised the play of his defensive ends Dwight Hallett and Scott Zahn and linebackers Ralph Sheffield and Matt Roach.

2 PATROLMEN COMPETE

In National Revolver Match. Township Patrolmen James Vandermark and Anthony Gaylord participated this month in the one-week National Police Revolver Championships held in Jackson, Miss. where more than 900 police officers from 43 states and Canada competed. It was the first time the Township had entered a team on a national level.

Ptl. Vandermark had competed as an individual last year at Jackson, finishing ninth. As a result of his past scoring, he and Ptl. Gaylord were assigned to compete in the Master two-man division.

MARKSMAN: Competing against the best police marksman in the nation, Township Ptl. James Vandermark finished 29th in a field of 201 in the Municipal Masters Class at the National Police Revolver Championships held in Jackson, Mess.

They fired head-to-head against veteran teams from the U.S. Secret Service and FBI whose specialty is marksmanship and who have the opportunity to shoot all year. Ptl. Vandermark and Ptl. Gaylord did not place in the team competition but both hope to take part again next year. Ptl. Vandermark described it as quite an experience.

Ptl. Vandermark then competed as an individual in the Municipal Masters Class, finishing 29th in a field of 201. "When you get 29th place out of 200, that's good for a small department," said Chief Frederick Porter. "It's magnificent!"

Ptt. Vandermark and Ptl. Gaylord were also honored with the release of the "Governor's 20" list, a list of the top 20 police revolver shooters in the state. Both are in the top ten.

.500 STILL A STRUGGLE

For Hun School Booters. That .500 goal continues to elude the Hun School soccer team.

Coach Jack Huckel's Raiders failed to add to their win column in two tries last week, tying Pennington School, 1-1, Saturday, and losing 3-1 to George School earlier in the week.

After a goal by Joe Cuesta had given Pennington a 1-0 lead in the second period before a homecoming Pennington crowd, Hun's Angelo Barbero came right back with an unassisted goal in the same period. Hun goalie Joe Claffey had 12 saves in the deadlock, which saw Pennington outshoot Hun, 27-20.

As a result of the tie, Hun's record fell to 4-6-1.

Against George School, Ken Dreskin's first-period goal gave Hun a 1-0 lead, but the visitors came back to score once in each of the remaining periods while blanking Hun the rest of the way. Hun has home games this week against Hopewell Valley on Wednesday and Montclair-Kimberly on Friday, both starting at 3:30.

TWO MORE WINS

For PHS Girls Soccer Team. Sue Mooney's two goals led the Princeton High School girls soccer team to a 4-2 victory Thursday over West Windsor, as the Little Tigers increased their overall record to 8-2-1.

Amy Stackpole and Holly Bull added single tallies. One of West Windsor's goals came on a penalty kick against reserve goalie Ellie Steinberg.

Earlier, PHS had blanked Princeton Day School, 4-0. Once again it was Mooney, the team's top scorer, leading the way with two goals. Drew Rosenberg and Cornelia Reeder, scored one each.

PHS coach Carol Parson attributes much of the Little Tiger's success to their defense which is led by center fullback Carla Meade. "It is very consistent," she said. Claire Callahan and Eleanor Ufford are the starting left and right fullbacks.

13TH SEASON TO START

For Nassau Hockey League. The Nassau Hockey League will begin its 13th season November 19 at the Princeton Day School rink and continue on weekends through mid-March.

University's Projected Operating Deficit Five Times Higher Than First Anticipated

The budget-setting Priorities Committee of Princeton University has learned that a series of major changes has caused the University's projected deficit for the current fiscal year to grow from $85,000, the figure anticipated and announced last January, to $497,000.

Provost Neil L. Rudenstine and Treasurer Carl W. Schafer described the $412,000 shift in the projected deficit as "worrisome" and said it would "certainly make our task more difficult as we review the budgets for 1979-80 and beyond."

Unexpected cost increases and revenue shortfalls totalling $1.7 million in areas such as Food Services, the Graduate School and employee benefits are cited as contributing to the $412,000 increase. A rise in endowment and investment income, as well as an increase in unrestricted gifts, lifted projected revenues by $1.3 million. The difference in the two totals, added to the original $85,000 figure, makes for $497,000.

The increased cost of Food Services contributed the largest amount, $313,000, to the projected deficit, including lower income ($93,000) and higher expenses ($220,000). Next on the list was the higher general funds cost of graduate student support, $265,000, including lower tuition revenues and higher University fellowship costs charged to general funds.

Insurance Higher. Other factors cited were the increase of one-half point in the personnel benefit rate, caused mainly by unexpected increases in insurance costs ($200,000); increased costs in various departments within academic administration and student services, including Health Services, Student Affairs and the Admission Office ($188,000); and lower indirect cost reimbursements from sponsored research projects ($179,000).

The income from this summer's events program was less than the preceding year and was only partially offset by lower expenses. Fewer faculty took leaves and the average salary was higher, contributing $157,000 to the projected deficit. Undergraduate tuition revenues were lower than expected by $107,000 and the net increase in costs for liability insurance and increased expenses in general administration and central University services were $84,000 more than planned.

"A projected deficit of this size is cause for real concern," Prof. Rudenstine and Mr. Schafer told the committee in a memorandum, "particularly if we believe that the pressures will continue to increase in future years."

Factors reducing the projected deficit included a $754,000 increase in endowment earnings, an increase of $353,000 in the estimate of Annual Giving and other gifts, and a $197,000 increase in investment earnings, partly because of higher interest rates.

RAMS TOP PHS

On Disputed Goal. With less than three minutes remaining in a 10-minute overtime, the score tied 1-1, and first place at stake in the Colonial Valley girls field hockey conference, visiting Hightstown defeated Princeton High School 2-1 Monday on a disputed goal.

During a scoring rush, the ball lodged beneath the front of the goal post. Princeton goalie Nancy Pesce couldn't find it. She assumed it was out of play, as did the PHS defenders.

But Maureen McCormick of the Rams dug the ball loose, passed it to teammate Jane Holman who tapped it in, and the Rams had their victory.

A 20-minute discussion between PHS coach Joyce Jones and official Barbara Mitchell failed to get Mitchell to change her ruling that the ball was still in play. Courtney Hoff had brought the Little Tigers even with her second half goal. PHS had an 11-2 advantage over the Rams in corner shots.

Shaving cream.

Introducing the eltron® 770 shaver.

The cream of electric shavers is here, joining the other distinguished Eltron shavers made by Braun, AG.

The Eltron 770 incorporates a new high performance foil that delivers a closer shave than Eltron could ever offer before. Each oblong opening of the new foil features six precisely angled corners that catch, corner and cut your beard skin-close, yet with extraordinary comfort due to a platinum-coated shaving head.

Other notable features include a new visual hair trimmer, a narrow shape and a new multipurpose case.

Engineered for total reliability and patented with the best selling foil shaving system in the world, the Eltron 770 is backed by a full three-year international warranty.*
